

Amtrak unveils rapid rail plans

Dearborn Mayor John O'Reilly officially welcomed the visitors and turned the meeting over to moderator Dingell, who is chairman of the House Energy and Commerce Committee, and Ford, who chairs the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee in Washington, D.C.

Ford informed the audience that the last Congress passed a bill that allocated $650-million to Amtrak by a vote of 266-84 in 1978. He cited the shortage of gasoline and stressed the urgency of getting mass transit underway.

"When gas hits $3 a gallon, people will say 'Where's a train! Why didn't THEY do something about it before now?' It seems we're always thinking 10 to 20 years behind the times and now is the time we need to get on with upgrading rail service."

"We want to repair roadbeds and do other improvements to help Amtrak," Ford said. He further explained that Amtrak was not competitive with the auto industry, but supplemented it.

Dingell pointed out that Amtrak is heavily subsidized by government funds and said it was necessary because a rail system cannot make it on its own without federal financial assistance.

Hercik informed the audience of proposed improvements in Amtrak's service.

"By late spring we want to have an Amtrak line from Kalamazoo to Chicago. Some $20 million has been invested in Amtrak since 1974 and during that seven years, we've seen the tremendous value of rail transportation," he said.

Several local legislators and community officials from this area were at the meeting, including State Rep. William Keith, whose 33rd district includes Inkster and Garden City, State Rep. Edward Mahalak, whose 38th District encompasses Romulus and Huron Township, and Bob Beeny, a member of the City of Wayne's Planning Commission.

They listened as Amtrak Vice-President Clark Tyler explained the "Emerging Corridors" program that his company has studied.

"The 'Emerging Corridors' started with the Boston-to-Wash. D.C. route and was comfortable, fast and convenient," Tyler said. Our study centered on 20 corridor-type situations all over the nation. Congress asked us to go out and investigate these rail corridors and report back on Feb. 15, 1981."

Tyler said he and his administrative staff talked with many people from local areas all over the nation to reach a conclusion which rail lines, or corridors, would be most necessary and productive. Of the original 18 corridors reviewed, Amtrak selected Detroit-Chicago and San Diego-Los Angeles as the two routes with the highest potential.

"In 1978, Congress said they would look at Amtrak route service and we outlined all our route service to them. We dropped the five least cost-effective routes and that helped go a long way to put us on a sound financial footing," he said. He pointed out that by November of this year Amtrak will be running all new or repaired trains with all new or upgraded equipment.

"This past year we were on schedule for seven of the 12 months — a record better than the airlines' 'on-time' accomplishment. Also, our 'on-time' percentage for 1980 was 79 percent, compared to 65 percent in 1979. Our future is in short haul runs," Tyler said.

Bill Norman, another Amtrak official in the passenger end of the business, said his company was looking for extensive routes that ranged between 150 and 450 miles in length. "We want to help provide a balanced system of transportation with the airlines, buses and other modes of travel," Norman said.

In answer to a question from the audience, Norman said 60 percent of those riding Amtrak trains 300 miles or less are on business trips. "As the distance gets longer, trips are for discretionary purposes," he said. "Overall, 70 percent of trips on Amtrak are discretionary while 30 percent are business trips."

Norman answered a Toronto man's question with the response that Amtrak hopes to have a New York-to-Toronto and Chicago-to-Toronto route as soon as possible.

"We have also taken an aggressive approach to helping the handicapped," Norman continued. "We keep a regular tally on conditions and recently allocated $2 million to provide facilities in our Amtrak stations for the handicapped, including special wheelchair lifts."

"All our stations are set up to handle the handicapped and we have plans for full accessibility to all our stations.

Tyler said that Amtrak currently runs three trains per day between Detroit and Chicago. "We plan to add three or six more per day. These figures are not firm, it could be two or four runs, or any number in-between as needed."

Dingell summarized the meeting as very productive and informative.

"We heard the needs and concerns of the people and how they feel. Also, we gathered some appreciation about the needs of moving freight by rail," Dingell said.

Ford added, "It's even more important that Amtrak has information and input from people in our area to take back for its report to Congress on Feb. 15."

"We'll (Congress) be having authorization hearings in the first part of the year to discuss how much money to allocate to Amtrak."

Council balks

Legal fees remain unpaid

Charles Lowther, city attorney, last week again recommended that Romulus City Council authorize him to settle a pending lawsuit by agreeing to a $1,200 compromise settlement for fees owed a law firm that represented ex-Mayor Terry Trout.

But, council ended up taking no action to do so.

Lowther had urged the settlement of the old legal bill at the previous council session. However, council asked that he submit a breakdown of the bills owed.

Last week, the city attorney presented a detailed billing of the legal fees owed to Barris, Sott, Denn & Driker. The law firm was authorized by city council June 10, 1975 to defend Trout against a lawsuit brought by then Councilman James Stewart.

Lowther's written memorandum to the mayor and council stated: "It is my firm conviction that a settlement of $1,200 is in the best interest of the city and I would request authorization to settle the pending lawsuit for that amount."

A motion by Councilman Gerry Canejo to settle the suit in line with Lowther's recommendation died for lack of support.

In other action, council voted to lease a 16-foot van from Detroit Diesel Allison for $1 for the first year.

In a letter to the mayor Dec. 30, 1980, David J. Paul, director of the DPW, said the van could be used to monitor the city's storm sewer maintenance program. Also, he said, the van would aid in maintaining gate valves which serve as shutoffs for the city's water mains.

Council action authorized the mayor to enter into a lease agreement with Detroit Diesel Allison for the van. Under the lease agreement, the city would be responsible for costs of maintenance and insurance.

Council also concurred with the recommendation of Raymond Cantrell, purchasing director, to award a bid of $6,650 to the Michigan Fire Rescue Equipment Corp. for a Hurst power tool.

The power tool, known as the "jaws of life", is used to pry wrecked vehicles apart in accidents to extricate trapped victims.

According to Fire Chief John Wilhide, Michigan Fire Rescue was the only bidder because it is the only supplier of such equipment in this area.

'Myrtle Beach' group visits area

"It was just great, really great."

That's how Leona VanBuhler, Executive Secretary of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce, described a luncheon gathering with members of a delegation from the Myrtle Beach Area Chamber of Commerce from South Carolina.

Some 20 prominent residents of the Belleville and area showed up to greet the visitors who were on their annual "Spring Fling Auto Tour."

"These people were so cordial, so friendly," Mrs. VanBuhler continued. "We spent an unbelievably lovely time with them. And I think it's great for these people to take pride in promoting their community."

During the tour, the delegation talked about the publicized Myrtle Beach. The group met last Monday at the Tin Lizzie Banquet Room, and two lucky persons will get an opportunity to see first hand what Myrtle Beach hospitality is really like.

John Curd, of Standard Federal Savings & Loan, and William Loyd, of the Van Buren Schools, won trips to that city offered by the visiting delegation.

In the space of 15 years, South Carolina's Grand Strand has grown from a vacation destination that played host to a handful of visitors each year, to one that now welcomes close to seven million people annually.

The main ingredient in this success story has been the willingness of Grand Strand residents to devote their time and resources towards promoting their community. And a significant portion of that dedication goes towards thanking those who have made the area's positive economy possible.

On January 19 a group of volunteers from the Myrtle Beach Area Chamber of Commerce arrived in Belleville to continue a friendly tradition known as the "Spring Fling Auto Tour."

"What our tour involves," said a group spokesman, "is our residents spending their own money to visit towns like yours where people have a reputation for visiting the Grand Strand."

"We try to show our appreciation by giving away some free vacations and free passes to our more popular attractions."

"We get our reward, too," the spokesman concluded, "because we get to meet face-to-face with some of our vacationers, something that's not always possible during the busy vacation season."

Commissioners asked to 'bite the bullet'

Seeking to save money during a fiscal year expected to overcome deficit financing and relieve a $20 million debt, the Chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners is asking other commissioners to choose between two state-wide county conventions this year. They cannot attend both with county financing, he said.

Chairman Samuel A. Turner last week asked the commissioners their preference as delegates to either the Michigan Association of Counties (MAC) Legislative Workshop for three days in February in Lansing, or the MAC annual general conference for four days at the end of August and early September at Mackinac Island.

In his request, Turner stated: "Those commissioners who will be appointed as delegates to the Workshop will not be considered for appointment as delegates to the MAC annual conference.

Turner said afterwards, "It is not a move that will save a great deal of money, but every bit helps. Besides, the symbolic nature has importance along with the financial aspect."

"This is something that we can point to for the public as well as among ourselves to show that we are trying in even small ways. It is peculiar to government that sometimes the little decisions are the hardest to make."

In addition to saving money, he said the move will still guarantee adequate Wayne County representation at both meetings. The largest county in the state and the third-largest in the nation, Wayne County Commissioners sit on a number of MAC committees and study groups.

Carr-Halcomb vows exchanged at Bethany Baptist Church

MRS. DAVID R. CARR

A week-long honeymoon in Florida followed the autumn marriage of Deana Marie Halcomb and David Roy Carr who, on their return, took up residence at 1732 30th St., SW, Rochester, Minn.

The Rev. Bill Stice, campus minister at Western Michigan University where both young people graduated, presided at the October 18 ceremony before some 200 assembled guests.

The afternoon rite joined in marriage the daughter of Marvin and Martha Halcomb of 14397 Iroquois Ave., Largo, Fla., formerly of Belleville, and the son of Everett and Marilyn Carr of 2720 Lenox Ct., Rochester, Minn.

The bride, escorted by her father to the altar of Bethany Baptist Church, chose for her wedding day a chiffon gown embellished with Chantilly lace on the Queen Anne neckline, long full sleeves and full circular train.

Her mantilla veil of silk illusion was banded in matching lace and her bouquet of silk flowers included cascading white carnations, yellow roses and baby's breath.

A high school friend of the bride, Karen Griess of Ypsilanti, was maid of honor in a yellow polyester frock with a chiffon overlay, the sleeves being fashioned in the butterfly mode. Preceding the bride down the aisle, she carried a bouquet of silk white carnations and yellow forget-me-nots.

Bridesmaids in identical mint green ensembles were Mrs. Kathy Halcomb of Belleville, sister-in-law of the bride; Kathy Mills of Texas, another school friend, and Karen Carr of Rochester, Minn., sister of the bridegroom.

Steve Carr of Rochester, Minn. was his brother's best man with Marvin Halcomb of Belleville, brother of the bride, and Dan Mills and Rob Prybyla, both of Texas, serving as groomsmen.

At the reception, which followed in the Fellowship Hall, the 150 guests were greeted by Mrs. Halcomb in a pale green polyester gown to which she pinned her green-tinted white carnations. A similar corsage was pinned to match the apricot chiffon gown which the bridegroom's mother wore for the occasion.

A 1975 graduate of Belleville High School, the new Mrs. Carr was graduated as a registered music therapist from Western University in 1980. Her husband attended high school in Rochester, Minn. and earned his engineering degree at WMU in 1979. At present he is working for IBM in Rochester.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by Everett and Marilyn Carr, was held at the Brass Belle in Belleville.

potpourri

BY LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

It's that time of year again (for me) -- the season when I get the first-of-the-new-year urge to try new recipes. And have I got recipes, whew!

The jaunt to the supermarket these days always results in some new addition for the pantry (a just-in-case stand-by) for my moments of "gourmandry."

(Now just a minute, she's thinking -- better look THAT one up. Does it mean cookery or piggery? -- Hm-m-m, there IS no such word. But had there been, it would have suggested "to eat like a glutton.")

Starting over once more, those non-staple items I find myself dropping in the stores' 4-wheelers are the kind of things that can make an ordinary dish into a gourmet's delight.

A mere can of water chestnuts, for instance, can add crunch and texture to an otherwise mundane vegetable which can be doctored still further with some sliced fresh mushrooms, slivered almonds, fresh ginger root, some good grated cheese, etc., etc. And -- in place of those buttered bread crumbs or canned onion rings atop that favorite casserole, try sprinkling on some rice chow mein noodles, crushed Triscuits, potato chips or even leftover cereal.

It seems a fair share of "potpourri" readers like to see recipes featured a little more often so I experimented with this new and easy put-together to share with you. Admittedly, we seldom eat potatoes but, having 'em left from the holidays and never one to waste, I teamed 'em up with a low-calorie broiled scrod and equally non-fattening salad of sliced pickled beets and onion rings with a dusting of crumbled hard-cooked eggs and bacon bits, all on a bed of lettuce.

You'll probably find a hint of German potato salad here but it's not quite the same and I hope you like...

... SWEET-SOUR FRIED POTATOES

- 1/4 cup butter or oleo
 - 1 small onion, chopped
 - 1/4 cup green pepper, chopped (and here's where those you froze last summer can be used)
 - 3 cups sliced, cooked potatoes
 - salt and pepper
- Combine above ingredients. Brown potatoes slowly, turning occasionally. Combine and add to above mixture:
- 2 T. vinegar
 - 1 T. water
 - 1 T. sugar
 - 1/4 tsp. dry mustard
- Continue to cook over medium heat until liquid is absorbed but not dry. Serves six.

On checking the mail basket last week I found a fun letter from a transplanted Bellevillite, Sharon Bonanni, who is currently in New York City at the bid of "Bride's" magazine where she is a features-copy writer.

It seems a recent "potpourri" column found its way Eastward -- the one concerning the differences in words used by us and our English cousins which daughter Carol discovered during her stay abroad. And, it appears, Sharon has run a close parallel with her own adventures in the "Big Apple". We've condensed her most interesting letter due to space restrictions but did pick out the following:

"Reading that column," she wrote, "made me realize that there's also a different culture out East -- only 600 miles and NO oceans away. I would like to share my initial observations and little goofs with you."

"In New York," she continues, "a Coke, Sprite, Tab, etc. is a 'soda', not pop; and coffee comes three ways and must be specified as such when ordering: 'dark' meaning black; 'regular' -- with quite a bit of cream and 'light' -- practically half cream, half caffeine."

"On relaxing Saturdays, I'll wear 'dungarees', not jeans, and lace up my 'sneakers', grab my 'pocketbook' and head for the subway. There a 'token' is not the lone female hired by a Fortune 500 company; it's a small coin, 60 cents worth, which opens train gates, allowing access to the tracks. The 'platform' there isn't Republican, Democrat or other political persuasion but rather the area where one waits and WAITS for the next available train."

"New York's multifaceted entertainment world also holds a few peculiarities: 'TKS' (pronounced tix) isn't what your watch does when oiled. TKS is the canopied building in Times Square where theater-goers can purchase unreserved, whatever's left tickets for that day's performance at HALF price. Movies here are known as 'tilms' and theaters never offer bargain matinees. Nightclub covers go up after 11 p.m. since New Yorkers start partying at 11:30 p.m. and can keep on until four if they so desire."

"Prices are noticeably higher here even with fast food and other chains. Eight cents tax on the dollar everywhere and coffee shops often require a $3 minimum per person in booths."

"It's been said that when New Yorkers are nervous they don't reach for a Camel, they reach for something sweet. Thus, there are cookie shops everywhere, the leader being 'David's Cookies' -- a 2-year-old enterprise created by a bored lawyer with a penchant for baking."

And though Sharon "loves digging into this wonderful city" she found she could easily slip right back into the "family routine" on her recent holiday visit here.

"There were a few truly Midwestern touches I realized I HAVE missed -- brisk, clear, relatively pollution-free air, open spaces of land which stretch for miles, and WOODS! Also suburban homes, not modern high-rises or brownstones hugging each other along all-too-narrow streets and especially... people never too busy, sophisticated or frightened to give a friendly hello."

At the time of its release, Kenn Follett's "Eye of the Needle" was the book everyone was discussing and if you were hooked on the spy scene, that was "the" epitome of thrillers; 'twas excellent!

Then he countered with another in that same category, "Triple", which was all right but not quite up to the ovation he earned for that first novel.

And then -- the ink was barely dry on "Triple" when still another Follett work was making the charts. But, alas, "Key to Rebecca" is a bomb! And because it's mighty rare that I don't finish a book, I kept looking for some redeeming quality in this one as I read on... and on...

Seems as if Follett wanted to cash in while his name was "hot" and cranked out a couple hundred pages of pure tripe, throwing in some unnecessary orgiastic scenes to plump up a slowly deflating story. And, disappointingly, he uses the second-rate writers' ploy, and tosses in that beautiful young thing as a lifesaver for the middle-aged hero who comes across pretty much the dummy in this one.

The book jacket reads better than the novel but when it states "Follett builds tension and suspense to a screaming pitch as he follows the adventures across the infernal desert to a confrontation as startling as it is explosive" one wonders just what book THAT person had read.

"Key to Rebecca" is NOT exciting and that screaming pitch referred to is more likely to be the poor person who paid good money for a "name" writer.

THE BOTTOM LINE: A pessimist thinks all women are immoral and an optimist hopes it is true.

Smoky Mountains, Florida are honeymoon destinations

Sherry Lynn Nieman and Gary J. Rye were united in marriage at St. Phillip's Lutheran Church in Ypsilanti with Pastor David Strong officiating at the double ring rite.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Nieman of 49230 Bemis Rd., Belleville, the bride was given in marriage by her mother and father.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Doris Rye of 50333 Willis Rd., Belleville, and John Rye of 3270 Inwood Circle, Kalkaska.

Sherry selected for her wedding day a toe-touching gown of white organza with Venice lace creating a scoop neckline and fitted bodice. The pleated overskirt, delicately bordered with Schiffli embroidery, drifted into a chapel train as she walked.

Completing her ensemble were a white derby hat accented with lace appliques and nylon net and a cascade bouquet of white roses and carnations, pastel daisies and baby's breath.

Matron-of-honor Patti Blevins of Belleville donned a pink polyester gown, the halter bodice topped by a short-sleeved pleated jacket. The basket of flowers she held matched those in the bride's bouquet.

Appearing in blue, yellow and green pastel frocks were Debbie Myhand of Belleville, the bride's sister; and Bonnie Temple of Onstead and Pam Brumback of Oscoda, both sisters of the bridegroom.

The role of best man was filled by Cliff Wall of Eaton Rapids. The corps of ushers included Mark Nieman of Belleville, brother of the bride; Thom Raine of Belleville and John Temple of Onstead and Larry Brumback of Oscoda, both brothers-in-law of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, the 225 guests gathered at Roma's of Ann Arbor for the wedding reception. On greeting friends and relatives, Mrs. Nieman wore a long gown of taffeta and chiffon, the bodice being in cocoa and the skirt in off-white. Her corsage was comprised of pink roses and baby's breath.

Among those congratulating the young couple was the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Ella Wallman of Belleville, who was presented with a corsage of pink roses and white baby's breath to compliment her pink formal gown.

On their return from a two week trip through the Smoky Mountains and Florida, the newlyweds took up residence at 11510 Beckley Rd., Belleville.

A Lincoln High School graduate, the bride attended Michigan State University and Eastern Michigan University and is now working at Elias Brothers Restaurant in Ann Arbor.

Her husband, who is employed as a Sumpter Township police officer, also graduated from Lincoln High School and attended Michigan State and Eastern Michigan Universities.

The Bonanza Restaurant in Lakewood Shopping Center was the setting for the rehearsal dinner hosted by the bride's parents and the bridegroom's father.

MR. AND MRS. GARY J. RYE

Retirement party held for Postmaster O'Neil

Belleville Postmaster Raymond J. (Chub) O'Neil, who has retired after 24 years employment with the U.S. Postal Service, plans to devote his leisure time to traveling in Northern Michigan and his native Canada, particularly Quebec.

On Jan. 10, some 76 postal employees, Fire Department personnel and friends gathered at the Brass Belle banquet room for a party in his honor. Rural letter carrier Ray Van Buhler took over as toastmaster for the evening. Speakers included George C. Wilson, former assistant postmaster; Gil Dingman, superintendent of postal operations; Belleville Mayor Justin Emerson and Don Bluhm, a spokesman for Van Buren Fire Department No. 1.

In keeping with his penchant for submarine sandwiches, the retiree was presented with a special giant-sized Captain Nemo's sub as well as a huge leash for his tiny dog, Moose, and a book on retirement. Five specially decorated cakes, two with postal motifs, were also part of the festivities.

His final papers were delivered in a full-sized replica of a mail truck, complete with horn and driver, Gil Dingman.

Courses geared for women available at Washtenaw CC

Maintaining any sort of personal perspective can be tough during a Michigan winter, but, if you are a woman, Washtenaw Community College may have what it takes.

Courses geared especially for women during the winter term 1981 include: The Future Woman; You As a Woman -- Discovering Who You Are; Financial Management for Women; Make-Over -- A New Image for the Professional Woman; Make-Up Magic for Mothers and Daughters; and Fitness for Mothers and Daughters.

Fitness for Mothers and Daughters is a 10-week course of exercise offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays for daughters aged 13 or over, and their mothers. The class, which began Jan. 20, will combine stretching, calisthenics, and rhythmic and endurance activities.

You As a Woman -- Discovering Who You Are is a 2-hour seminar, the evening of Jan. 27, exploring who you are as a female, where you are now, and where you can go in the future: a new wholistic approach to life.

Financial Management for Women provides, in 10 weeks, beginning Jan. 27, financial management information especially beneficial for women who are single, separated, widowed or divorced. Continuing Education Units are available for the class, and child care will be provided.

Make-Over -- A New Image for the Professional Woman covers pulling your wardrobe together, selecting a working wardrobe and appropriate outfits for social and formal occasions. The 1-evening seminar on Feb. 5 includes a facial analysis and instruction in how to apply make-up effectively.

Make-Up Magic for Mothers and Daughters is a seminar the evening of March 10 for daughters no younger than 15, and their mothers. The class considers the basics of good skin care and make-up techniques.

The Future Woman is a 1-day workshop, March 14, to help women achieve a "total success environment" by balancing their career aspirations with family needs and expectations.

For more information on these courses and to register, call Washtenaw Community College at (313) 482-2230. All classes meet on the main campus, 4800 East Huron River Drive, Ann Arbor.

Parkers announce daughter's marriage

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Parker of 31707 Ecorse Rd., Romulus, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Mary Magdalene Parker, and Richard Noceti of Stockton, Calif., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Anthony Noceti of Kentfield Street, Stockton.

Justice of the Peace Glenn Anderson presided at the civil ceremony on Dec. 6 at 11:15 in the morning in Minden, Nev. A wedding reception and honeymoon to Lake Tahoe are both in the couple's future plans.

A Romulus High School graduate, the new Mrs. Noceti is employed at Pacific Molasses in Stockton. Her husband attended Linden High School in Linden, Calif., served with the U.S. Army, attended sheet metal apprentice school and is now working as a journeyman sheetmetalworker for J. H. Simpson Heating and Air in Stockton.

to marry

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Cardwell of Romulus announce the engagement of their daughter, Kimberly, to George Salajan II, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Salajan of Romulus.

Both young people are graduates of Romulus High School.

As yet no definite date has been set for the wedding.

June wedding set

St Stephen's Catholic Church in New Boston has been reserved for the June 6 altar date of Elizabeth Ann Majtyka and Marvin Dale Murphy, both of New Boston. Their engagement and wedding plans are announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Majtyka of 28470 Haggerty Rd., New Boston. A 1976 Huron High School graduate, the bride-elect is now working for the Michigan Department of State in Belleville. Her fiancé, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Murphy of 40355 Willow Rd., New Boston, is a 1974 alumnus of Huron High School currently employed at Vamp Company of Trenton.

Just in passing

Pity those poor 'First Ladies'

By KAY DeBORD

Is it just me—or is it really a love—hate relationship between the American press (taking in all aspects of the media) and the wives of our presidents?

It came to my attention as Nancy Davis Reagan started to appear as target even before she was "officially" First Lady.

Certainly Eleanor Roosevelt was the target of barbs and vicious cartoons until after she was widowed and some of the more personal aspects of her life were bared and suddenly she was the epitome of wisdom, the healer of wounds on a national scale—and all but elevated to sainthood by the press and public. And after her death—some tried to bring her down from the status she had deservedly achieved by her service to the public through the years—but somehow their efforts have failed.

Bess Truman has managed to live down the sneers at her determined efforts to remain in the background of the life of her President husband and the clever, underestimated little lady has managed, to this day, to retain her own personality despite the efforts to depict her as a dowdy little hausfrau. More power to her!

When Jackie Kennedy came into the role—that is just what she created—the role of the President's Wife. Her debutante days were alternately praised as background for that part, or put down as her extravagances were put on record, her snobbishness derided, her esthetic efforts sneered at and every flaw was ruthlessly put on public record.

With the death of the Kennedy's infant son, Patrick, she gained the sympathy of the press and public, but again, she had to share her mourning with the "Public"—and later, when her husband was assassinated she was castigated for her behavior in not bowing, in her grief, to all that was felt to be due to her husband's successor and his wife during those first hours of the Johnson presidency.

Then, during the Kennedy funeral and the subsequent time of grief, she assumed her pedestal as the nation's "First Mourner." And that lasted through the death of her husband's brother as he sought the Presidency.

After she had the nerve to marry Aristotle Onassis, a portly, elderly man of myriad millions, again she was the target of a disillusioned press and public who hacked away at the pedestal THEY had put her on and at every opportunity, her actions are duly noted and brought to public scrutiny.

We aren't very kind to those who disturb or destroy the images we make up, are we?

For some reason, Claudia Johnson was given a little more leeway, but possibly that was because Jackie was still bearing the brunt of public attention—and possibly it was also because, in a quiet way—"Ladybird" didn't give a damn what her public and the press thought. She took part in public to the extent she chose—and quietly went her own way, as she still does.

Mamie Eisenhower was another victim of the love-hate relationship. She was the perfect wife for the nation's World War II hero-general-president as long as she was depicted as "the girl he left behind and came back to"—but when the public and press found out that he may have strayed—she had to be humiliated in print because somehow it must have been HER fault, her lack that gave the hero feet of clay. The farm home she had shared with him at Gettysburg was her shelter from publicity until her death.

Betty Ford had her shortcomings as a personality and wife picked over in print, she managed to come through as can be listed among the survivors and is still the wife of a devoted husband, whose dedication to serving the American people over the years contributed to her depression and "aloneness" as a wife and mother.

More power to her! Rosalynn Carter also has toughed it out through the criticism that came her way as her husband trusted her with chores related to the Presidency. Feminine, she also has the steel in her to take whatever is handed out—and I, personally get the feeling that she resents the shunting aside of her husband by the public more than does he.

Now comes Nancy Davis Reagan to face the spotlight—with every move and thought duly reported. If she bends, she will be overwhelmed—but I doubt if this will happen. Nancy will choose her role, just how much she will give to the public and the press—and despite a chorus of gnashing teeth, will go serenely on with her life.

Only time will tell what image she will be allowed by the self—same public and press—but I hope we will give her a chance.

That's all any of us want—a chance.

New on the scene

The first baby of the new year at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti was credited to a Belleville couple, Harold and Sherry Tackett of 18100

Elwell Road, Lot 73.

The infant, their first child, arrived at 5:45 p.m., weighed 9 lbs.-7 ozs. and measured 21½ inches.

Titled "Russell Hollan", he is the new grandson of Russell Skidgell, Marie Navarre and Bernice Skidgell, all of Belleville, and Sol Tackett of Kentucky.

His great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Hollan Skidgell of Hartford, Conn. and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Yancey of Lewisburg, Ohio.

The new mother is the former Sherry Skidgell.

The birth of their first child, a son, is being announced by Raymond and Linda Price of 47001 Waters Edge Lane, Apt. 211, Belleville.

Putting in his appearance on Dec. 21 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, the young man weighed in at 9 lbs.-4½ ozs. and was named Eric Matthew.

The new heir is the grandson of Mrs. Lee Upton of Belleville and the late Frank Upton and Stanley Price of Belleville and the late Rose Price. Eric's maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Dorothy Walsh, resides in Melvindale.

Tresa Lorraine is the name given the new daughter born Dec. 3 to Jim and Linda Laurell of 47914 Judd Rd., Belleville.

The 7 lb.-15 oz. newcomer, who measured 21 inches, made her debut at 8:25 a.m. at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti.

The Laurell's third child, she has a 5-year-old sister, Christina, and a 3-year-old brother, Robert.

The children's grandparents are Jim Laurell and Marie Navarre of Belleville and Sol Tackett of Kentucky.

John and Roberta Burnett of 11160 Jackson, Belleville, welcomed their third son, Joshua Isaac, on Christmas Eve at University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Weighing in at 8 lbs.-1½ ozs. and measuring 19½ inches, Joshua is the new brother of Johnnie Kim, who's 4-years-old and Jack Robert, who's two.

They are the grandchildren of Mrs. Olivia Vaughan of Ypsilanti and Isaac and Florence Burnett of Burson, Calif.

Erharts enjoy two months out west 'on the company'

Former area residents, Dean and Nancy Erhart who now live in Richfield, Ohio near Cleveland, write to say they would like their friends to know what they've been up to.

"National Semi-conductor" for whom Dean works as a computer technician, sent the two of them to San Diego, Calif. for more advanced training, all expenses paid for two months.

Instead of flying, the Erharts drove so they could see more of the country. On arriving in California, they became tenants in a garden apartment on the Pacific Beach in Mission Bay.

Included on the couple's agenda during their stay were trips to Palm Springs, Hollywood and Julion Mountains where they panned for gold, finding only small pieces.

The highlight of the trip, however, was the number of excursions made into Mexico to such towns as Rosarita, Ensenada and, of course, Tijuana.

The drive back home, their message continues, was just as rewarding and since they drove the southern route out, they took the northern passage home going through Las Vegas where they spent the day visiting the slot machines; Nancy losing her money and Dean doubling his.

A trip that started out as a business venture turned out to be two months of fun in the sun and, they add, a fantastic experience!

Chamber News & views

Key meetings

By Leona VanBuhler, Executive Secretary
Belleville-Van Buren Chamber of Commerce

Meetings will dominate the month of January for chamber Committees in preparation for the nomination and election to the Board of Directors. The Nominating Committee will meet on Thursday, January 22, in the chamber office. Plans for the Annual Meeting on Saturday, May 2, will also be discussed.

A letter and form concerning the proposed business Seminars will be sent out this week to chamber membership requesting their input as a free programs on such business related topics as: Accounting Procedures, Banking Techniques, Estate Taxation & Planning, Business Tax Planning, Group Insurance Planning, Pension Planning, Wills & Trust Planning, Corporate Tax Strategies, Property & Liability Insurance Planning, Worker's Compensation Planning, etc.

Please complete the form and mail it back so we can better serve you. Rex Ryckman, Hazel Bigham and Leona VanBuhler are the representatives to the West Suburban Area Council of Chambers.

The next meeting of this group will be hosted by the Belleville Chamber at the new meeting room at the Detroit Edison Company on Haggerty Road.

Twelve chambers in the area will be represented at this meeting. Correspondence from R. William Joyner, Wayne County Commissioner to the Wayne County Board of Commissioners was read at the board meeting as follows: Attention, Mr. Bernard Hanus, Director of Administration. I respectfully submit the following items be put on the agenda at the next meeting of the Board of Commissioners to be referred to the proper committee.

1. That the Board of Commissioners support a credit for sales tax on bad debts and checks. This type of legislation would have a tremendous benefit and realize savings to Michigan retailers of over $2 million per year. Of the 45 states that have a sales tax, only 10 do not allow such a credit. Michigan is one of them.
2. That the Board of Commissioners support a sales tax handling allowance.

Presently, Michigan's handling allowance for sales tax collection only allows the retailer to receive, as a reimbursement a maximum amount of $2 per month per store. No other state has such a low, flat-fee handling allowance on tax collected and the state should draft legislation that includes a 2 percent reimbursement of the tax collected. This would at least partially compensate the retailer for cost incurred as a tax collector of the state. The Chamber Board will be dispatching a reply to Mr. Joyner's letter favoring these proposals.

A program was presented to the chamber on a Shoplifting Educational Program for the schools. A committee has been appointed to check into the feasibility and funding of this program with various other organizations and groups.

Plans are underway for a new map of the area and a Membership Brochure. Four representatives from the Myrtle Beach Area Chamber of Commerce were welcomed and a luncheon was held on January 19, to acquaint area residents with the Grand Strand area and distribute information.

The representatives visiting our area were: Dot Bishop, Waccamaw Pottery; Mary Harper, Sea Mist Resort; Cecil Norton, Tryone Seville Motel; Bob Baxby, Howard Johnson's Ocean Resort.

The next Chamber Board Meeting will be held on Thursday, February 19th. Remember: "It Takes Two—Your Chamber and You".

Water rate talks are scheduled

The Detroit Board of Water Commissioners will hold a public hearing Wednesday (today) to gather public input on its proposed increase in sewage disposal rates and charges.

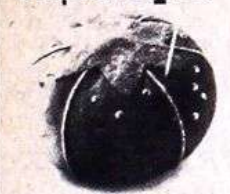

The hearing will start at 2:30 p.m. on the fifth floor of the Water Board Building, 735 Randolph St., Detroit.

The new rates are scheduled to go into effect on or after July 1, 1981.

Information gathered at the public hearing will be given to the Detroit City Council, which must give its approval for the new proposed rates.

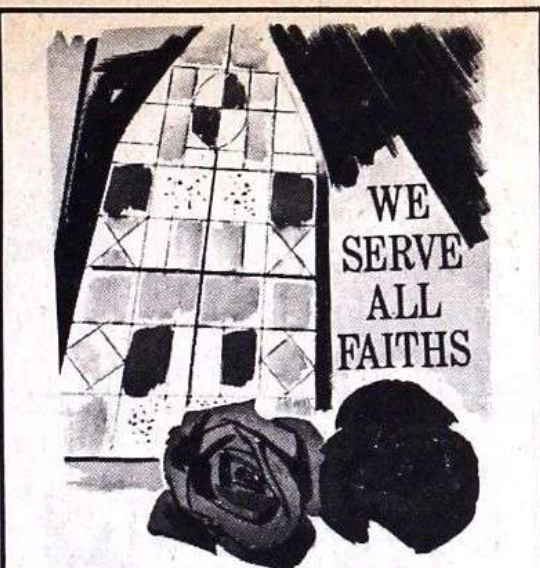

Those persons who are unable to attend the public hearing may submit written comments to: Charles Beckham, director, 735 Randolph St., Detroit, Mich. 48226. For further information, call Brenda V. Peek, public relations, 224-3834.

Did you know we can find a breast cancer as small as the head of a pin?

Such a tiny cancer can almost always be cured. Mammography, a technique of low-dose breast x-ray, can detect a cancer long before a lump can be felt. While it is still highly curable. If you are over 50 or have special reasons to be concerned with breast cancer, ask your doctor about mammography.

War on stolen-lost welfare checks

County reorganizes warrants' unit

Wayne County Department of Social Services has re-established its missing warrants unit in an effort to stem a rising, multi-million-dollar tide of lost and stolen welfare checks fraudulently cashed at supermarkets, banks and other retail establishments.

The reorganized two-person missing warrants unit, which is part of the WCDSS Finance Division, is cooperating with merchants, banks and law enforcement agencies to identify clients who endorse checks and then report to WCDSS that the check was lost or stolen, leading to duplicate payments in the form of replacement checks.

"Working closely with supermarkets, notably the Associated Food Dealers of Michigan, we are developing a system that will reduce the opportunities for fraud and minimize problems experienced by merchants and banks," WCDSS Director Robert Little said.

"Many merchants get burned when fraudulently endorsed checks are returned by the state with a stop payment order," Edward Deeb, the Associated Food Dealers executive director, said. "By working cooperatively with the state in this venture, we hope to prevent the loss of money by merchants and the state."

"This check problem is growing and causes great concern for the state, local merchants and banks alike," said WCDSS Director Little.

Little said 90,467 replacement checks with a total value of $10.6 million were issued by the state last year to DSS clients.

"It has been estimated," he said, "that 60,619 or 67 percent of these checks were issued to Wayne County recipients and represented some $7.1 million."

"We do not know, however, the percentage of checks cashed fraudulently," he added. The value of replacement checks averaged $117 each, Little noted.

Deeb said merchant losses have more than doubled since the WCDSS missing warrants unit was closed in February 1980.

"Such losses," he added, "cost supermarket operators alone more than $2 million last year."

Under the new procedure outlined by Little, merchants and bankers will obtain a thumb print of the client cashing a welfare check along with the client's signature.

When a check is returned to the retailer with a stop payment order because it has been reported lost or stolen, the retailer or banker will hand deliver the returned check to the missing warrants unit.

The unit will send a letter to the client requesting that he or she come to the unit office where an affidavit must be signed attesting that the client did not endorse the original check. A thumb print is obtained along with the client's signature.

The affidavit and copy of the original warrant will be forwarded to the DSS Office of the Inspector General for an in-depth investigation which will include a check of the signature and thumb print. The Inspector General will then make a determination as to whether the client endorsed the check in order to receive a duplicate payment.

If it is determined that the client received duplicate payment, a procedure will be in place to require repayment of the funds to the state.

If the client does not agree to repayment, the case will be referred to the Inspector General for investigation of fraud.

Representatives of National Bank of Detroit, Manufacturer's National Bank, U.S. Postal Inspector's Office, DSS Office of the Inspector General, Detroit Police Department and Associated Food Dealers of Michigan have been named to a WCDSS advisory council, Little said.

This group will meet quarterly to confer with the WCDSS director and staff on policy and procedure matters related to the missing warrants unit.

Block grant decision is nearing

A final decision on the use of community development block grant funds will not be made by the city of Romulus until the Jan. 27 meeting of city council.

Patrick A. Hogan, community development director, in a memorandum to the mayor and council Jan. 8, explained that a small turnout at the Jan. 6 public hearing prompted him to suggest a delay.

The second public hearing on block grant funds will be held at 7:30 p.m. immediately prior to the Jan. 27 council session. Comments received at that time will be utilized by council in making the final decision on allocation of grant funds, Hogan said.

Non-Smoking Discount for Homeowners

Statistics Show Non-Smoking Homeowners Are Better Fire Risks!

That's right! Non-smoking homeowners are better fire risks — in some cases up to 25-30% better. Nearly 20% of the fires in one- and two-family dwellings start because of careless smoking or children playing with matches. After carefully reviewing all the numbers, it was clear to us that non-smoking homeowners deserved to have that fact reflected in their rates.

Views On Dental Health

By
SHERMAN H. KANE, D.D.S.

WHAT IS ROOT CANAL?

Years ago, a badly infected tooth was doomed to be pulled. Today that's a last resort. Root canal treatment consists of: 1) the removal of the infected pulp that lies within the root canals of the tooth, and 2) the sealing of the root ends to prohibit any further infection.

The pulp is the tooth's center core of soft tissue (nerves, blood vessels and fibers). When the dentist removes a "nerve" from a tooth, he really removes pulpal tissue that contains the nerve.

Removing the pulp from the tooth does not produce a "dead" tooth. It will be very much alive and functioning because it has a source of blood and nerve supply from the surrounding tissues that hold it in place. The tooth will have no sense of feeling because the nerve has been removed but the tooth itself will be fine; it should last as long as your other teeth and could even be eventually used as an anchor tooth for a denture bridge.

The amateur photographer

To master the camera, shutter speed is the key

by BILL MCNEECE

If you are ever going to realize full creative control in your photography you must master the numbers written all over your camera.

The shutter speeds are usually engraved on a knob residing on top of the camera.

With some cameras they may be found on or near the lens barrel. The numbers included are: 1000, 500, 250, 125, 60, 30, 15, 8, 4, 2, 1. "1000" means one-one thousandth of a second, "8" means one-eighth of a second. So it goes until "one", which means one second.

When one of these numbers is set at the appropriate knob it controls the amount of time the shutter remains open.

The best way to understand how your shutter works is to watch it.

With no film in your camera, open the back and press the shutter release button while trying all of the shutter speeds. At the slower speeds you will see the shutter open and close. Be careful not to touch it.

As shutter speeds are related to the shutter, F-stops are related to your lens diaphragm. This gizmo makes round openings of different sizes, depending on the F-stop selected.

In other words, the diaphragm built into the lens "stops the lens down" to your pre-selected aperture. Consider F-stop and aperture to be synonymous. You can watch this action by removing the lens from your camera, looking through it, and activating the "stop-down" lever on the back of the lens.

While doing this you will notice that the larger the F-stop number, the smaller the circle is that the diaphragm forms as it "stops down."

This is because F-stop means nothing more than the product (or answer) of the lens length divided by the diameter of the diaphragm opening.

F-stops commonly found on the aperture ring around the lens are: 2, 2.8, 4, 5.6, 8, 11, 16. You probably noticed that the shutter speeds were a mathematical progression: 1000 is twice as fast as 500, 30 is one-half of 60. It is the same with F-stop numbers. F-2 allows twice as much light to strike the film as F-2.8 and 1000 (one-one thousandth of a second) creates a splash of light on the film the same size as F-11 and 60 (one-sixtyth of a second).

The aperture has been stopped down from 2.8 to 11 and sixteen times less light has been allowed to go through the lens. The shutter speed has been changed from 1000 to 60 and sixteen times more light has been allowed to go through the shutter.

Therefore, we have equivalent splashes of light exposing the film. While less light was coming through the lens, the shutter was open longer, allowing more light to pile up on the film.

BILL MCNEECE

At f-2.8 and 1000 settings, a big blast of light came down the lens, but it was only allowed to strike the film for a very short time.

If you were having difficulty sorting out F-stops and shutter speeds, use this information and exercise with your camera. Take your camera off any automatic exposure provision it may have and experiment with the numbers.

Take a few photos of the same scene. Expose the scene properly, utilizing different F-stops and shutter speed combinations. When your film is processed you will be able to see for yourself all of the equivalent exposures.

Ex-Romulus cage stars to play in Inkster benefit

The list of basketball players sounded like some sort of area "high school" Hall of Fame.

Names such as Eartha Faust, Duane Fox, Andre Richardson and Greg Noro who played basketball for Inkster High during what some called the "Golden Age" of Viking basketball, and cagers from Romulus like Nate Davis, James Hall, Herb Buckley, who starred for Dave Court's Eagles back in the 70's are to shoot it out again.

And these names came up when Faust, who is a former prep All-Stater, revealed that Inkster High's graduating Class of 1971 is holding its 10th anniversary reunion.

"What we're doing," Faust said, "is holding a fund-raising benefit game in which our former ball players will take on ex-players from Romulus."

It will all happen on Sat., Jan. 24 in the Inkster High gym at 8 p.m.

Prep fans will be able to watch players such as Faust, Fox, Richardson, Childs, Johnny Dukes, Nero, Bill

Reaves and Henry Moses play against the likes of Romulus' Nate Davis, Calvin Harris, Hall, Emery Long and Buckley for the price of a $2 ($2.50 at the door) admission ticket.

The monies raised from the benefit game will help put on the reunion festivities, Faust said.

Faust added that the 1971 cheerleaders will be rallying their team as they did back when Inkster was the terror of the Mid-Wayne Conference and was considered one of the best teams in the state.

Why pick Romulus who can't field Johnny Long? (Long is with the Detroit Pistons).

"We always used to pack them in when we played them," Faust added. "Don't you remember?"

Sure do — also remember an abbreviated game when the then Romulus coach (court) decided he had enough and took his team off the floor at Inkster.

How many of you remember that one, folks?

80-512

4C. Motion by Cantrell, supported by Rush, to adopt Resolution 80-512:

RESOLUTION 80-512

WHEREAS: The State of Michigan, in an effort to more fairly and equally distribute tax obligation and responsibility, adopted Public Act 381 of 1978; and WHEREAS: Said Act goes into effect in 1981; and

WHEREAS: The preliminary residential state equalized factor for our community is 1.27; and

WHEREAS: This factor would result in our community's residents paying property taxes in 1981 at a 20.24% increase over the previous year; and WHEREAS: This increase is obviously a totally unfair and unjustified additional burden upon the residential property users of our community; and WHEREAS: The Michigan Legislature will be considering several other property tax reform measures throughout 1981.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT: The City of Romulus does hereby go on record as opposing the implementation of P.A. 381 of 1978 and does hereby request of the Michigan Legislature that it take whatever it deems necessary to postpone implementation of said Public Act until such time as it has reviewed and adopted a more equitable property tax reform bill; and BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED THAT: A certified copy of this resolution be forwarded to Governor Milliken, Senator Faust and Representatives Mahalak, Owen and Brown as well as all surrounding communities.

Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Cantrell, Yeramian, Canejo, Raspberry, Block, Rush, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

80-513

4E. Motion by Cantrell, supported by Rush, to adopt Resolution 80-513:

RESOLUTION 80-513

WHEREAS: The City of Romulus, Michigan, is a community which is served by the Rouge Valley Sewage Disposal District, which in turn, is under the jurisdiction of the Board of Public Works of the County of Wayne, Michigan; and

WHEREAS: The Rouge Valley Sewage Disposal District and the Northeast Sewage Disposal District serving communities in the Counties of Macomb, Oakland, and Wayne, are under the jurisdiction of the Board of Public Works of the County of Wayne, Michigan; and

WHEREAS: Wastewater from the Rouge Valley and Northeast Sewage Disposal District is transported for treatment and disposal to the City of Detroit Wastewater Treatment Plant, pursuant to a contract between the County of Wayne and the City of Detroit; and

WHEREAS: The City of Detroit Water and Sewerage Department unilaterally designates facilities of its system to determine the users who share in the cost of such facilities; and

WHEREAS: A sewer break occurred in an interceptor located within the Oakland-Macomb Interceptor, referred to as the Edison Corridor Break, and WHEREAS: The cost of repair for interceptor sewers within the Rouge Valley and Northeast District under the jurisdiction of this Board are borne solely by the users of these respective Districts; and

WHEREAS: The users of the Rouge Valley and Northeast Districts share in the cost of facilities of the City of Detroit Wastewater Treatment System, which are designated as "common to all"; and

WHEREAS: The Board of Commissioners of the City of Detroit Water and Sewerage Department have indicated that they intend to recover the cost of repair of the interceptor break in the Oakland-Macomb interceptor, referred to as the "Edison Corridor Break", by spreading the cost to all the users of the Detroit Wastewater System; and

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: That the City Council of the City of Romulus, Michigan hereby formally objects to any action taken or to be taken by the Board of Commissioners of the City of Detroit Water and Sewerage Department regarding allocation of the cost of repair or the cost of operation and maintenance of the Oakland-Macomb Interceptor serving the users represented by this Board, and joins in the similar Resolution of the Board of Public Works of the County of Wayne, Michigan.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That the City Council of the City of Romulus, Michigan hereby objects to the designation of the Oakland-Macomb Interceptor located in and serving the Oakland-Macomb District as a "common to all" facility, and joins in the similar Resolution to the Board of Public Works of the County of Wayne, Michigan.

Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Canejo, Raspberry, Block, Yeramian, Cantrell, Rush, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

80-514

4F. Motion by Cantrell, supported by Block, to adopt Resolution 80-514:

RESOLUTION 80-514

WHEREAS: There exist in the City of Romulus, County of Wayne, Michigan (the "City") the need for certain programs to alleviate and prevent conditions of unemployment and to assist and retain local industries and commercial enterprises in order to strengthen and revitalize the City's economy; and

WHEREAS: A program to alleviate the aforesaid conditions has been initiated by the Economic Development Corporation of the City of Romulus (the "Corporation"); and

WHEREAS: The Corporation in conformity with Act 338 of the Public Acts of 1974, as amended ("Act 338"), has prepared and submitted a project plan, as amended, providing all information and requirements necessary for a project; and

WHEREAS: The Planning Commission of the City has recommended its approval for a project; and

WHEREAS: In conformity with Act 338 this Council has conducted a public hearing on said project plan;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED:

1. The project plan, as submitted and approved by the Corporation and by the City's Planning Commission meets those requirements set forth in Section 8 of Act 338.

2. The persons who will be active in the management of the project for not less than one year after approval of the project plan have sufficient ability and experience to manage the plan properly.

3. The proposed methods of financing the project as outlines in the project plan are feasible and the Corporation has the ability to arrange the financing.

4. The project as submitted is reasonable and necessary to carry out the purposes of the Act.

5. Based upon the information submitted and information obtained at public hearings, the project plan as submitted and the project to which it relates, serves to alleviate and prevent conditions of unemployment, strengthen and revitalize the City's economy, encourage the location and expansion of enterprises, in the City, and, therefore, constitutes an essential, vital and necessary public purpose.

Romulus native Bernie J. Parker has been promoted to second vice president at Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit. Parker began his banking career in 1956 and has worked in many areas of the branch system. He is currently officer-in-charge of the Bank's Vernor-Ingalls office in Detroit.

'Mack and Mabel'

Local talent to appear in musical at Bonstelle Theatre

Robert Lambert son of Dorothy and Daniel Lambert of Romulus will appear in "Mack and Mabel," a musical love story by Michael Stewart and Jerry Herman, which opens at the Bonstelle theatre January 23 for a two-week-end run.

Performances are Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 and Sundays at 2:00 p.m. through February 1.

Lambert is portraying the role of Frank Wyman in the Bonstelle production of "Mack and Mabel." He is currently a sophomore in the Bachelor of Fine Arts program at Wayne. Robert is a graduate of Romulus High School, where he appeared as Snoppy in "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown."

The story, billed as "the musical romance of Mack Sennett's funny and fabulous Hollywood," traces the careers of Mack Sennett, legendary director of comedy and his greatest star, Mabel Normand. Sennett is best known for creating the Keystone Cops and discovering Charlie Chaplin.

"Mack and Mabel" first opened October 6, 1974, at the Majestic Theatre in New York City. The show was directed and choreographed by Gower Champion with Robert Preston and Bernadette Peters in the title roles. Clive Barnes in the New York Times praised the play for its "Tuneful music" and called it "a splashy musical."

The Bonstelle production of "Mack and Mabel" is directed by Russell Smith, choreography by Nira Pullin, musical direction by James Hohmeyer, costumes by Marilyn Renaud, settings by Jules Tonus, and lighting by Marc Riske.

Tickets and information for "Mack and Mabel" are available from the Wayne State University Theatre Box Office, Cass and Hancock, Detroit 48202. Reservations may be made by calling 577-2960. Tickets are also available at most Detroit-area college and universities.

The graying of America is becoming a crucial problem

By BERNARD F. HILLENBRAND

When I was a laddie
I lived with ma granny
And many a hiding ma granny gi'ed me.
Now I am a man
And I live with ma granny
And do to ma granny
What she did to me.
(traditional rhyme, anonymous)

This gruesome little poem points to one of the most disturbing aspects of the "graying of America", the abuse of our older citizens by their own families.

"Graying of America" refers to continuing growth of our older population. By the year 2000, 27 percent more of us will be over 65, 52 percent more will be over 75. According to a recent series of Congressional hearings, as more older people live on, the problem of abuse also seems to be growing.

University of Maryland professor Marilyn R. Block has reported that physical abuse is rare. For the most part, "elder abuse" means neglect, misuse or theft of money, verbal threats or overmedication to "keep grandpa quiet". Sometimes, sadly, older people are forced to enter nursing homes against their will.

A typical example might be the case of William Jones of Washington D.C. This 86-year-old man told Congressmen he could no longer care for his finances. When he asked a friend to do so, his son interfered.

The son had his own name placed on his father's bank account, and later confined William to the house, left him little to eat and threatened to poison him.

Another example might be the elderly Massachusetts woman found wandering her snowy neighborhood clad only in nightclothes and slippers. Her four sons couldn't agree on what to do about their "confused" mother, so they did nothing.

Then there is the physical abuse — and it can be vicious. In one case a 78-year-old Florida woman was beaten with the detachable leg of her wheelchair. Paralyzed, the woman was unable to cry out. A neighbor found her lying in blood.

The culprit: her 36-year-old nephew who had no record to indicate he was capable of such violence.

Other times, family members can damage frail elderly through actions that may not cause problems for younger people. During the hearings a "Mrs. X", explained how her disturbed daughter began to deny her access to the kitchen, pushing, shoving and sometimes throwing her down. The older woman eventually had to be hospitalized.

This example is typical for another reason as well. The mother did not seek any help until after she had been hospitalized. She allowed her daughter to live with her for 18 years without telling anyone about her suffering. She was ashamed. "I didn't want anyone to know that I had raised a child capable of such actions," she said.

In other words, domestic violence — of all kinds — is hidden by our belief that the family is a warm, harmonious group. We all believe that, and victims want us to believe that of their families too.

According to the U.S. Census Bureau, about 8 percent of the elderly are dependent on relatives. Of this group, "the majority of families are doing a good job caring for their older parents," said Congressman Claude Pepper, chairman of the Select Committee on Aging of the U.S. House of Representatives. "Only about 10 percent of the dependent elderly are abused by their families," he said.

The new studies report between 1 and 5 percent of the entire elderly population — about a million people — experience some kind of abuse including neglect, theft and emotional trauma from threats. What can we do to help?

First, researchers say we should begin with our children. Abused children, as the above poem suggests, may grow into adults who abuse children, spouse or parents.

Second, we must realize that "living with granny" is slated to become an inevitable part of family life. During the "graying of America", the elderly will become a factor in many social problems they have not figured in before. Domestic strife is just one.

Such conflict is more likely, Congressman Pepper reminds us, "when persistently high inflation and widespread unemployment contribute to personal frustration. Destructive actions may surface."

Third, we should also try to reduce the acceptability of violence in our society as seen in the casual beatings that take place on an endless stream of youth-oriented prime time television shows.

Fourth, government action can create legal protection for the elderly. Fifty states have child protection laws, but only 12 have similar safeguards for adults. This legislation includes mandatory reporting laws that compel individuals such as physicians, nurses, and social workers to report suspected abuse or neglect. It also prevents these individuals from being sued.

More states should pass these laws, as they may reduce the stigma of abuse and encourage some older folks to seek assistance.

Aliens must register this month

All aliens in the United States on Jan. 1, 1981 will be required under the Immigration and Nationality Act to report their current address during January.

According to the Immigration and Naturalization Service of the U.S. Dept. of Justice, this action is required even though the alien's address has not changed since his last report. The report is made each year.

Aliens may go to any U.S. post office or any Immigration and Naturalization Office and ask for the address report card, Form I-53. When completed, the card should be mailed with a stamp on the reverse side.

Care should be taken not to fold or tear the card.

The federal law does not apply to aliens on diplomatic duty or to those who are accredited to the United Traditionally, the elderly are least likely to report crime.

Finally, we need to make it easier for elderly people to live out their lives in their own communities. It is fortunate that a growing number of options are now available for older people who need some help, but don't really need the intensive medical care of a nursing home or other institution.

Medicaid, Medicare and the Older American Act have provided limited funds for services to families. Here and there senior citizens centers are offering adult day care. In most counties, local tax dollars and United Way funds provide a small amount of home health care or homemaker programs, but the demand for these services far exceeds available resources. It is obvious a much more comprehensive approach is needed.

As Senator David Pryor (D-Ark.) has said, "These studies send the message that we better look at this problem — now. The birth rate is down and people are living longer as a result there will be more older people and fewer children to help elderly relatives. This means the day-to-day stresses on families caring for older relatives is likely to increase."

Nations.

The parent or legal guardian of an alien child under 14 years of age must submit an address report for such child. Any alien who is temporarily absent from the United States on Jan. 1 must report his address within 10 days after return.

Information needed on the card is: address, date and place of birth, country of citizenship, occupation, type of firm or business in which employed, social security number, date and place of entry into the United States, date when current immigration status was received, and alien registration number.

Alien registration number is the one preceded by the letter "A" on the alien registration receipt card.

Aliens admitted temporarily to the United States should write "non-immigrant" in the space provided on the report form showing the alien registration number. If the alien newly arrived and has not received an alien registration receipt card "not received" should be written in that space. If the receipt has been lost, "lost" should be written in the space and immediate application made for a new receipt on Form I-53 at the nearest office of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Aliens who are required to report their address and who willfully or inexcusably fail to report that information are liable to be taken into custody and deported. Such alien could be fined or imprisoned before deportation.

Citizens of the United States requested by the Immigration and Naturalization Service to remit aliens of their registration responsibilities.

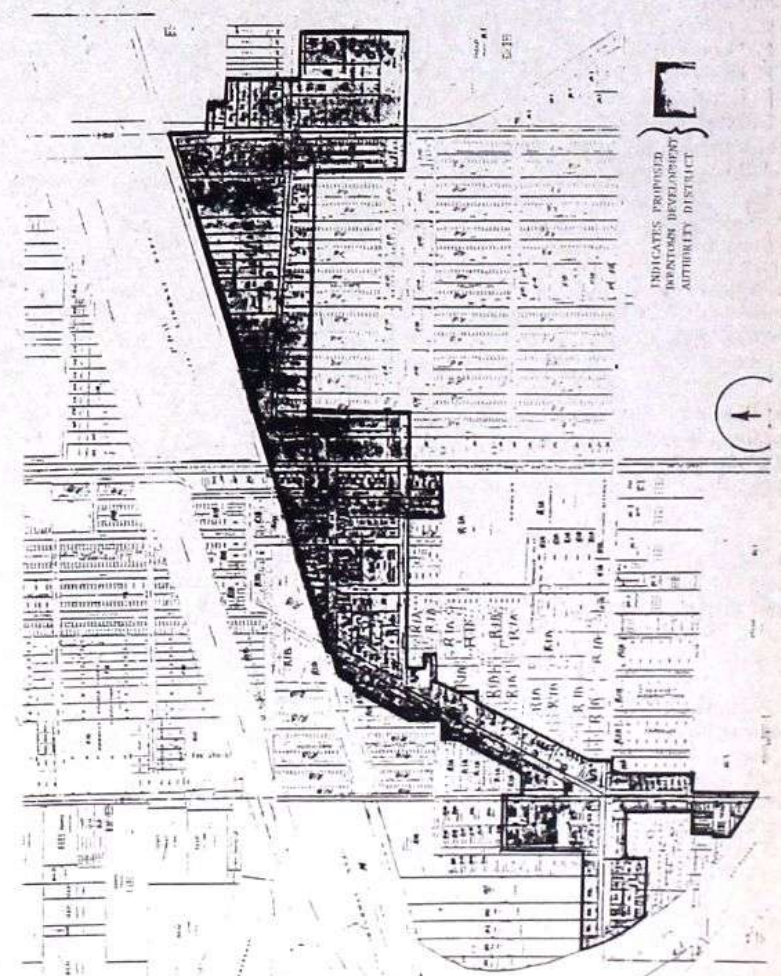

CITY OF ROMULUS
OFFICIAL NOTICE TO THE CITIZENS OF THE CITY OF ROMULUS
OF PUBLIC HEARING TO CONSIDER APPROVAL OF PROPOSED ORDINANCE CREATING AN "AUTHORITY"
AND DESIGNATING BOUNDARIES OF THE DOWNTOWN DISTRICT, AS PROPOSED FOR THE CITY OF ROMULUS

All interested citizens are encouraged and will be offered an opportunity at a hearing to address the City Council concerning said plan. Questions concerning the development of the aforementioned "Authority" and the establishment of the "Downtown District" should be directed to the Office of the City Clerk. Written comments/concerns should be directed to the attention of the City Clerk and will be received by the Council at the scheduled Public Hearing.

Welcome home!

During the past 14½ months the thoughts and prayers of nearly every American have at one time or another centered on the 52 Americans held hostage in Iran.

The often complex hostage scenario has taken us on an emotional roller coaster ride. We as a caring people have experienced all too real feelings of trepidation, grief, concern, anger, disappointment, hope and utter helplessness.

How could such a blatant kidnapping of innocent human beings be allowed to continue?, we asked. Would our fellow countrymen survive this ordeal? Was war the only solution? Or could we negotiate a safe return?

Questions. That's all we seemed to have along with our concern. Solutions became increasingly nebulous as the days in captivity mounted.

These 52 Americans prisoners unified our country as few politicians have been able to in American history. At a time of domestic turbulence and military unrest around the globe, the hostage issue was one we could rally around with unabashed enthusiasm.

As the old adage goes, sometimes it takes tragedy to bring about change. Unfortunately, the captivity of 52 fellow citizens was necessary to restore our sense of purpose as members of a democracy.

Sure, the United States has its problems, both home and abroad. But the hostage issue painfully put these troubles in their proper perspective. Nothing really seems to matter when human lives are at stake.

Naturally, the return home of the hostages brings a sense of great relief and ecstasy for their families and every American. This event marks the answer to all the prayers.

In the coming weeks the hostages will begin the process of joining the mainstream of a free society. Their ordeal will eventually come just another mark in history.

Hopefully, we will not forget the unified front America exhibited throughout these past 14½ months. Despite our nation's woes, the United States of America is the greatest democracy on earth. And when unified, it remains the greatest nation on earth.

The 52 American hostages made us a unified people again. For that fact alone, we should be forever grateful.

Welcome home, fellow Americans!

Get on board

The price of gasoline will never again be 30 cents a gallon.

In fact, government officials predicted last week that gasoline will hit $3 or $4 a gallon by 1985. While some may scoff at the notion of an oil shortage, most people realize the supply is dwindling and alternative transportation must be sought.

In view of this, Amtrak is working with the federal government to provide an efficient and adequate rail passenger service in all parts of the country. In our state, Michigan Department of Transportation is working with those two entities for better rail service.

U. S. Congressmen John Dingell and William Ford joined Amtrak officials in Dearborn Jan. 9 in unveiling plans for a greatly expanded rail passenger service in many areas of Michigan. But the corridor between Detroit and Chicago was highlighted as among the two most vital in the entire United States.

And communities located along the Amtrak line, which is the former Penn Central tracks running parallel to and just south of Michigan Avenue, should take heed that "times are a 'changing.'" Cities like Inkster, Wayne and Romulus and townships like Van Buren and Canton straddle the vital rail link between Detroit and Chicago, two of the top seven most populous cities in the country.

Private automobiles have been our pets for a long time, and people enjoy the freedom and luxury of riding alone when they want it, where they want to. But when gasoline hits the $2 and $3-a-gallon mark, people will be finding alternative transportation to and from work and for some vacations.

Like it or not, we are going to have to sacrifice our cars on the altar of necessity. At least for some trips in the future.

With that in mind, we realize that mass rail and bus transit is the wave of the future and we urge elected officials of our local communities to be in the vanguard of the action. More than 13 million people live in the 280-mile corridor between Detroit and Chicago.

Local community leaders should "get on board." They should actively pursue the possibility of locating rail stations in our communities. Since rail transit is a fast-growing system of travel — and with dwindling fuel supplies and fast-rising gas prices, now is the time to act.

"In the next 10 years, energy shortages and the high cost of gasoline will change our lifestyle drastically," U.S. Congressman William D. Ford told 150 community leaders in Dearborn at the Amtrak public hearing.

Fellow Congressman John Dingell said that the price of oil could easily double to $100 a barrel by 1985, driving the prices of gas up to $4 a gallon by that date.

We agree with these two legislators and feel their long years of active study and research into rail transportation makes them qualified spokesmen to advise us.

Therefore, we hope that our community leaders — those of Inkster, Wayne, Romulus, Canton and Van Buren — will realize their strategic location along the vital Detroit-Chicago corridor and act accordingly.

Rail transportation is the wave of the future. Let's get "on board" now. Tomorrow may be too late.

Reforms in workmens' comp, unemployment

By WILLIAM FAUST
Michigan Senate Majority Leader

Recent reforms in our workers' and unemployment compensation systems are going to make Michigan a better place in which to work and do business.

The need for reform was clear. The workers' compensation system had not been overhauled since 1969, while unemployment compensation was last addressed in 1975. We had heard similar complaints regarding both systems: benefits to deserving workers were too low, while the systems' costs to employers were too high.

In this time of great economic distress in our state, it was imperative that we put aside rhetoric and historical antagonism and produce needed reforms now. Intensive, week-long negotiations among myself, House Speaker Bobby Crim, Senate Minority Leader Robert VanderLaan, House Minority Leader William Bryant and Governor Milliken resulted in two major reform packages.

I believe the reform packages, subsequently passed by the legislature, significantly improve worker benefits while rectifying many of the business sector's complaints.

Following are highlights of the changes in our workers' and unemployment compensation systems:

WORKERS' COMPENSATION

*After January, 1982, injured workers will be entitled to benefits equal to 80 percent of their after-tax incomes. The present standard is two-thirds of gross wages. Workers' average weekly wages are to be based on their highest 39 weeks of earnings in the 52 weeks preceding injury or death.

*Maximum benefits will be pegged at 90 percent of the state average weekly wage (SAWW), up from 66½ percent of the SAWW. A worker injured under the present formula can receive a maximum of $210 a week, while under the new formula the maximum benefit will rise to $282 per week.

*Minimum benefit levels will be eliminated, ending situations in which employers sometimes have to pay injured workers more in workers' compensation than they paid them in wages. However, minimum benefits will be retained in cases of death (50 percent of SAWW) and specific losses (25 percent of SAWW).

*All workers injured through 1979 and still disabled would receive cost-of-living increases of up to 50 percent, to be paid out of the state's general fund.

*Conditions of aging, including but not limited to heart and mental conditions, will have to be both real and related to the workplace "in a significant manner" before they are compensable.

*Compensation for mental and emotional problems will have to be based on actual—not imagined—events in the workplace, and injuries resulting from social and recreational activities will not be compensable.

*Claims for workers' compensation will have to be filed within two years of the date of the injury or the discovery of a work-related disease.

*Workers' compensation benefits are to be reduced by the amount of any unemployment compensation received for the same period.

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

*Beginning in March, 1981, weekly benefits will be set at 70 percent of the worker's after-tax earnings, to a maximum of 58 percent of the SAWW. Presently benefits are based on 60 percent of gross income.

*Maximum benefits will rise for the first time since 1975 from $97 a week for a single worker and $136 a week for a worker with four dependents to $182 a week for all unemployed workers.

*The average benefit check will rise by 22 percent, from $99 to $121.

*Benefits are eliminated for workers who voluntarily quit their jobs, or who are fired for misconduct, sabotage or minor theft. However, voluntary quits could requalify for benefits after holding a new job for at least seven weeks.

*To qualify for unemployment compensation, workers will need at least 18 weeks of employment (up from 14) and weekly earnings of at least $67 (up from $25).

*Overall, businesses will save a total of $14.2 million with the reforms.

*The unemployment compensation reforms will be reviewed upon their expiration in April, 1983.

The Other Side of the Meridian

The small businessman

By TOM MOORADIAN
Managing Editor

Small businesses are usually the half-remembered people in the community.

But they are also the people who form the hard-core of any community.

Ironically, there is an abundance of news when it comes to "big businesses" — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—and government usually lends an ear to their problems.

"But there really is no vehicle for the small businesses to express our concerns or opinions because we are small," said Frank McMurray, an appointed delegate to the recent Regional Conference on Small Businesses held at the Detroit Plaza.

McMurray and David J. Willett, publisher of The Associated Newspapers, were appointed last year by Gov. Milliken to take part in a series of conferences on the problems of small businesses.

The series will climax in Lansing during the week of May 10 through 14, when delegates will share what they have learned and heard and discussed in the conferences.

McMurray believes that if there are no changes in the immediate future to help the "small businessmen, there is a good possibility that they will soon become extinct.

"Big business can cope with the erratic changes of the economy," McMurray contends. "However, small businesses do not have the means or can't financially withstand most of the whims of our economy."

McMurray said the government has caused most of the problems by "paper work," the "high cost of unemployment insurance" and taxes.

"Do you know the time it takes for us to complete the paper work that the government demands from us?" McMurray continues. "We just don't have the time or staff to file all the necessary forms they want from us."

"And when big business needs loans, these loans are usually available to them with low interest. Big business has lobbyists at all levels of government, and big business as well as big labor has put the squeeze on us, the small businessmen."

What the series of conferences is accomplishing, according to the immediate past president of the Canton Township Chamber of Commerce, is that "they are giving small businesses an identity."

"In fact, one of the delegates got up and told the conference that he had felt that he was the only one with these kinds of problems. However, after listening to the other delegates, he has discovered 'that we're all in the same boat.'"

Let's hope that it's not the Titanic.

A state Farm Insurance agent in Canton since 1963, McMurray also resides in that township. He has been active in Western Wayne County business and politics for some time.

Lt. Gov. Brickley, who has been making the rounds of the conferences, usually as the guest speaker, told the delegates that "in order for the state to continue to be healthy, we must create more jobs. And it's recognized that the small businessman is the person and the sector where this is going to be accomplished."

Brickley pointed out that "97 percent of the new jobs created in the last seven years have been created by the small businessman."

Bounty Hunter seeks to capture hard rock market

By JOEL ASHBY
Special to Playtime

In the early evening hours of a wintry Tuesday, western Wayne County commuters slide their autos through the slippery intersection of Ford Road and Venoy.

Not far from this Garden City intersection a small factory stands dark and silent. There is no night shift at this plant and the work day ended several hours ago. At the rear of the building traffic from the nearby crossroads sounds like a muted hiss. It's nearly seven o'clock when a lone auto swings into the drive of the shop and heads for the rear of the factory. The young driver shuts off his engine and waits in his car. During the stretch of several minutes a few more young men arrive in an assortment of cars and vans.

They assemble at the rear door of the building, huddled in the winter chill, until one of their members produces a key to open the door.

A couple of the young men are carrying long, narrow leather cases as they enter the building.

A witness to such a clandestine meeting might well imagine that this group could be involved in some sort of mysterious dealings. Perhaps industrial espionage, some sort of paramilitary group or conspiracy?

Conspiracy might well be the right word, because these young men are the members of the new rock band Bounty Hunter. And, they are plotting to capture the attention of hard rock fans in the Detroit area and elsewhere.

The five-member band was originated by Canton resident John Schiller in the fall of 1979 and has been holding thrice-weekly practice sessions at the factory where he is employed.

Schiller, 27, the keyboard man, at first signed up 24-year-old drummer Jim Mooradian of Dearborn, and Detroit's Bill White, 32, as bass guitarist. Soon to follow were vocalist Tom (Frenchy) Farless, 27, of Detroit and lead guitarist Mike Forsyth, who is 24.

After over a year and hundreds of hours of practice sessions, the group seems headed toward musical recognition. They have recently headlined at the Punch and Judy Theatre in Grosse Pointe and have released a record, which is available at several record shop chains.

Operating under the slogan: "Surrender Your Soul to Rock and Roll," Bounty Hunter recently released the single "Rock Will Do You In," and the flip side, "Don't Turn Back" on the Artie Records label.

According to Schiller, every member of the group has had previous experience with other rock bands. White, the senior member, was part of the Amboy Dukes in the late 1960's along with Ted Nugent and also did a stint with Nugent when he formed his own band in the early 1970's. His hard-driving bass line playing can still be heard today whenever radio stations play the Dukes' hit, "Journey to the Center of the Mind."

Practicing in a factory is a way of life for the rock group Bounty Hunter. The group uses a factory site to hone up on a hard rock act that operates under the slogan, "Surrender Your Soul to Rock and Roll."

Forsyth and Farless are former members of the rock group Zooster.

The band has been making their own arrangements for concerts through the aid of an attorney rather than signing with a booking agency or agent.

"You sign with an agency," said Mooradian, "and all they're interested in is making money—so they'll stick you in the bars every week."

"We've all paid our dues in the past one way or another in those gloomy, smokey, slimy bars and we're not going back," Mooradian said.

"We want to be the next major rock act out of Detroit," Schiller emphasized in his booming bass voice.

Bounty Hunter members feel they are beyond the stage of being a bar band and can do battle with any rock group of national reputation.

Although the major record companies are located on the east and west coasts, the group members agree they want to stay in Detroit and establish themselves as a Motor City rock group first.

According to Mooradian, "We have had an offer from a management firm in Florida through our record company to start in April as openers for big name acts appearing down there, but we've decided to stay here."

"We feel we want to be known as a Detroit band and that we haven't exhausted all the possibilities in this area," he said.

The band members divide up the chores of the group and say that there is no one leader in Bounty Hunter.

White and Forsyth are credited with writing most of the lyrics for the group. "We do strictly our own original material and no one else's," White said.

Mooradian, a researcher for a law firm, handles many of the group's business matters.

Roadies Terry Shearer and Mark Clough take care of setting up the group's equipment at rehearsals and concerts.

'World of vultures':

Talented Wayne musician still strives for success in a competitive industry

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Playtime Coordinator

George Woodrow isn't one to pull any punches. Not about his blindness. Not about his music. Not about his goals in life. Not about his talent on the keyboards—the organ, piano and synthesizer.

What kind of music does he enjoy? "Any kind," he responds matter of factly. "I have no weakness as a musician. I can play anything."

What's the music industry really like?

"It's a world of vultures. I'm referring to the agents and the union structure in the Detroit area. The music industry is a cutthroat business—the competition is greater than anywhere else."

How does the audience react to a blind musician?

"Acceptance seems to be inversely proportional to the education level," he laughs without hiding the hurt.

"The more professional people are, the more idiotic they seem to act towards someone with a handicap. I just want to be accepted as another guy, an individual."

And his goal in the music field? "To get rich."

A complex and opinionated individual, this George Woodrow. At the age of 36 he's already headed a number of bands, recorded a live album, performed at numerous weddings and parties, worked the lounge circuit and written several songs.

His current band, Class Unlimited II, represents the latest in a series of groups that have featured Woodrow's keyboard abilities. Included in the four-member band is vocalist Roger Little of Wayne, an up and coming talent according to Woodrow.

"Writing and discovering new talent are creative outlets," explained Woodrow while relaxing last week in the Wayne apartment he shares with his wife, Rosemary. "About 11 years ago I started out in a band called G.C. Woodrow and the Woodsmen. Our lead singer was a guy named Mike Wood."

"What an awful name for a band," he frowned, leaning back in his chair. "Later we had a female vocalist and the band's name was Class Unlimited. Now we have this new group that doesn't have any identity yet."

"Everybody's into their own bag as they say and just starting to jell together. We're versatile enough to play a variety of music, everything but hard rock. That means everything from country and jazz to 50s music and middle of the road rock."

In addition to the local wedding and party scene, one can listen to Woodrow these days at the Wayne Flea Market promoting his album, "Live at the Belcrest." Woodrow recorded the selections while working as a cocktail pianist at the Detroit hotel.

"It's not top 40 stuff," explained Woodrow, who appears at the market from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Thursday, Saturday and Sunday and from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. on Friday. "But it did make the WJR record library."

"I've always enjoyed studio work best," he added, "because you can reach perfection in the studio. I like to play live, too. When I work live I always give my best performance at the moment no matter where the band is performing."

Influenced by such artists as jazz pianist Art Tatum, James Taylor and Peter, Paul and Mary, Woodrow got his musical start at a particularly young age. Blind from birth, he found that a handicap would not impede his progress.

"I always wanted to excel at something," Woodrow recalled. "When I was two I played the piano with one hand while in my sister's lap. Then I took lessons at eight and hated them. I don't have much patience but I enjoy the creative aspect of writing new material."

He went on to continue his lessons, however, and eventually studied music at Wayne State University before becoming a professional musician. A BLIND musician at that, as some curiosity seekers are quick to notice.

"Generally I perform with dark glasses it's my protection from curiosity," the organist said. "I've made a lot of good friends through music but unfortunately a few people never accept a person with a handicap. They act like blindness is contagious or makes one deaf because they shout when they're talking to me."

Woodrow laughed at the mere thought. Obviously, his handicap makes some feel uncomfortable.

Yet his music makes most audiences very comfortable. And to a creative artist, that's all that really matters.

Marygrove College will offer a 12-week course, "Know Your Symphony," on Monday nights beginning January 26.

This course will feature the music of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and help explain all the nuances of the music in layman's terms. Admission to the Detroit Symphony Orchestra concerts is in the $65 tuition.

Registration may be done in person or by mail with a check, money order or credit card through the Division of Continuing Education, Marygrove College, 8425 West McNichols in Detroit. More information can be obtained by contacting the college at 862-8000, extension 240 weekdays from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. and from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

For many it was a day that will be remembered for a long time as the day Ann Arbor was graced with a piece of rock and roll history.

Prism Productions and Second Chance hosted Chuck Berry for two shows as a part of the Tidalwave concert series.

From a technical standpoint, Berry's act was only passable. However, his overall presence was enough to mesmerize the crowd. It was at if, in deference to his immensely successful and lengthy career, the audience accorded Berry all the respect, and even love, due a talent of his proportions. The fact they were seeing Chuck Berry outweighed any lack of effort on his part.

The 54-year-old patriarch of rock and roll took the stage in a humble fashion. After a mushy introduction by one of the WABX Jocks, the MAN came out, plugged in his old red guitar, waved to the audience, and launched into "Roll Over, Beethoven."

The tune brought the excited crowd to its feet. They were eager to be pleased. Many had heard of Berry, but few had ever seen him. They were determined to like the show.

The show started slow. Berry's guitar kept losing tune and he did not even play his own leads on the guitar, allowing another member of his band to pick up the slack. As the show progressed, Berry began to warm-up,

Eventually he began to play his own leads, displaying a musical talent, honed by some 30 years of practice.

As he began to play "Johnny B. Goode," Berry, displaying a trademark accorded him for many years, launched into his famous "Duckwalk" across the stage.

As if the excitement of one Berry wasn't enough, Chuck brought his lovely daughter Ingrid on to sing a few duets with him. He didn't comment on plans for her; however, I'm sure if she wanted to pursue a professional singing career, she has the talent to hold her own, even without the senior Berry's help.

Berry's price tag for the two shows was $10,000. Prism Productions president Tom Stachler had been quoted as saying, "He sets a high ticket and if anybody is crazy enough to pay it, he'll come and do a show."

When asked to comment on this, Stachler said that maybe crazy isn't the right word to use.

Was it worth the money? "Definitely," he said.

Coming Attractions: Second Chance and Prism Productions will be hosting the Vapors on Jan. 22, Mitch Ryder on Jan. 26, and Jerry Lee Lewis on Feb. 2, as part of the Tidalwave concert series. For information call: 994-5350.

Rick's American Cafe will be hosting the Legendary Blues Band, Muddy Waters' old group on Jan. 21, for you blues lovers. For more information call: 996-2747.

Audience mesmerized by Berry

Performance lacks total effort

Mediocre Simon beats no Simon

'Seems Like Old Times,' from Columbia Pictures. Directed by Jay Sandrich. Written by Neil Simon. Starring Goldie Hawn, Chevy Chase, Charles Grodin. Rated 'PG.'

By J. T. YURKO
Special to Playtime

What a delightful cinema package this film should have been, and very nearly is.

Look at the ingredients. The film stars three fine comedy performers — Chevy Chase, Charles Grodin and Goldie Hawn. Feeding them the funny lines is Neil Simon, a man who seems to have a limitless supply of such things.

As director, there's Jay Sandrich who has directed many of the episodes of TV's "Mary Tyler Moore Show." This is indeed a sizeable gathering of talent, but somehow not enough of it is transferred to the screen.

Whenever Neil Simon's name appears on the marquee, the audience knows they are usually in for a good time. Many of his previous works are classics of American comedy with titles such as "The Sunshine Boys," "The Goodbye Girl" and "The Odd Couple" to his credit. But occasionally even Neil Simon is not up to the level of Neil Simon (for example, "Star-Spangled Girl") and "Seems Like Old Times" falls into that category.

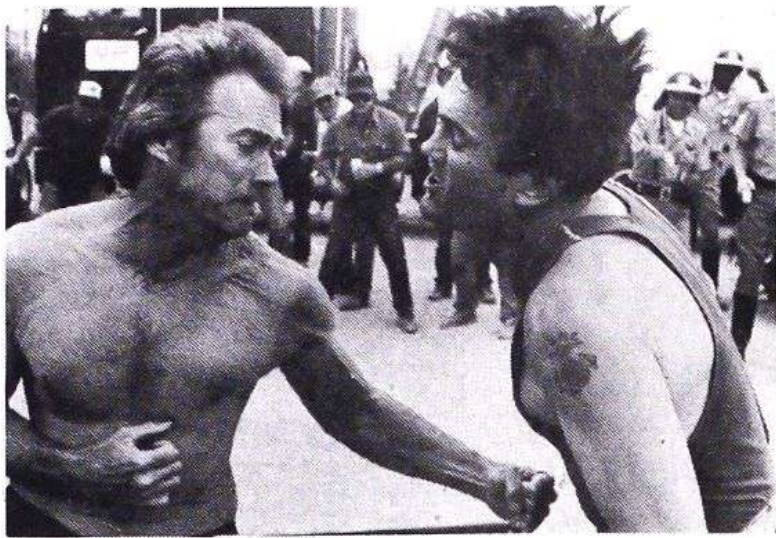

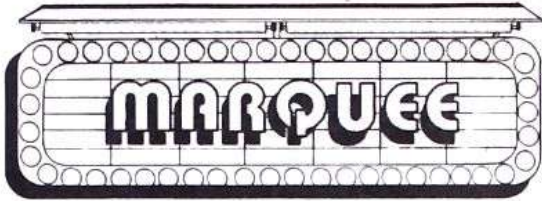

Simon's last screen effort was his adaptation of his own Broadway hit "Chapter Two." This story told of a writer who meets and marries a woman soon after the death of his first wife. As a serio-comic tale, the film was very nearly the account of his own marriage to Marsha Mason who starred as the lead role in Simon's film and in his life as well.

"Seems Like Old Times" must have been penned by Simon as a counterpoint to that film, as this one takes the same basic plot line, but changes it into a slapstick farce. Goldie Hawn plays the woman who is happily married to Charles Grodin, but cannot escape the fumbling affections of her former husband, played by Chevy Chase.

Chase gets involved in a bank robbery and calls upon Hawn, a practicing attorney for the underprivileged, for some aid and abetting, with Chevy hoping this will change to aid and abetting.

The mark of Simon is certainly present here as the one-liners and absurd dialogue run throughout the film, with the drawing-room farce formula done nearly as well as Walter Matthau's sequence in "California Suite."

Chevy Chase still substitutes antics for acting, and the ending is simply a cessation of the farce, but Hawn continues to be delightful, and mediocre Simon is better than no Simon.

Clint Eastwood (above) gives the bare knuckle treatment to an opponent in "Any Which Way You Can." If down home country is your cup of tea, this film will amuse you. If Neil Simon interests you, check out Goldie Hawn (below) in "Seems Like Old Times." Chevy Chase co-stars in this mediocre Simon presentation.

Producers say 'let there be a sequel'

'Any Which Way You Can,' a Warner Bros. release. Directed by Buddy Van Horn. Written by Sanford Sherman. Starring Clint Eastwood, Sondra Locke, Geoffrey Lewis. Rated 'PG.'

By J. T. YURKO
Special to Playtime

Of all the many Clint Eastwood films, the one that is far and away the most financially successful is the predecessor of this film entitled "Every Which Way But Loose."

The market seemed to exist for a follow-up film, so the producers of Hollywood said, "Let there be a sequel," and voila, here is "Any Which Way You Can." If you saw and enjoyed the first film, you'll probably enjoy the second as well.

This film will no doubt do well at the box office, but not in the big cities.

as this is definitely a "down home" movie. I saw the film in New York City with an average NYC crowd and there is one scene that illustrates this point.

As you remember from film number one, Eastwood plays the owner of a junkyard who also happens to be just about the best bare-knuckle fighter around. At one point in the film Eastwood nonchalantly walks over to a wrecked car and lifts the entire engine block out of the car and carries it over to a workbench.

On 3rd Avenue and 63rd Street in New York this got absolutely no reaction. But in the more rural areas of the country where folks know that no one short of Superman could even budge an entire engine block, this scene is bound to bring forth some comment from the crowds.

So also does it go with the rest of the film. Eastwood again is challenged to a bare-knuckle fight, is run by the mob with another fighter who's a bit tougher than his former opponents.

He is once again surrounded by this unique gathering of characters, ranging from his brother (Geoffrey Lewis) to his girlfriend (Sondra Locke) to his delightfully neurotic mother (Ruth Gordon) and let us not forget his sidekick Clyde, the most successful orangutan in the history of the cinema.

With country songs by Glen Campbell and Jim Stafford, among others, the film is filled with plenty of beer-drinking and brawling and cop-fuelling and hard-driving country boys. If this is what you like, then this is what you'll get. The rest of you should let this one slip by.

DRAMA

Garden City presents courtroom play

"The Runner Stumbles" is a courtroom drama that is also a searing investigation into the nature of love, faith, and religion, will be presented by the Garden City Civic Theater at O'Leary Auditorium from January 22nd through January 25th. Thursday, Friday and Saturday performances are at 8 p.m. with Sunday's presentation set for 2:30 p.m.

Based on an actual murder case in Traverse City, Michigan in 1909, "The Runner Stumbles" tells the story of a tormented priest who is being tried for the death of a nun under his charge.

Michael Burden will appear in the central role of a recalcitrant priest who has been relegated, as a disciplinary action, to a forlorn and largely non-

Catholic rural section of Michigan. The arrival of an impetuous, lively young nun, to be portrayed by Debra Barsamian, upsets the precarious balance of the priest's personal and spiritual life.

These two lonely and longing spirits are drawn to each other, although their religion forbids their love. The clash between devotion to their faith and their thwarted passion leads to torment and finally, tragedy. Tickets, priced at $3.50 for adults and $2.50 for students and senior citizens, are available at City Hall, Garden City Public Library, Maplewood Senior Citizens Center, Orin Jewelers, or at the door. Group rates are available.

For more information, or advance ticket sales, call 421-7420 after 6 p.m.

O'Leary Auditorium is located at 6500 Middlebelt.

Bell offers ski reports

The Bell System now is offering daily telephone ski reports for major ski regions in the United States, including Michigan.

The new service, called Dial-It Ski Report, provides information on weather conditions, ski base and inches of snow on the ground, trail conditions, number of ski lifts and Nordic ski conditions, according to local Michigan Bell manager Haze Wilson.

is 1-900-976-3740. Calls to the 55-second recordings cost 50 cents, plus tax.

Each ski report — produced by Phillip Camp Associates, Inc. of Woodstock, Vt. — is updated daily at 8:30 a.m., 11 a.m., 3 p.m. and 5 p.m., with a final wrap-up at 10 p.m. The reports will continue throughout the skiing season.

The same Dial-It "900" network used for the ski reports is used by the Bell System to provide Dial-It National Sports on 1-900-976-1313.

What's That Sound?

By STEVE O'LEARY

It should come as no great surprise to anyone that the book-magazine marketplace is suddenly overrun with "John Lennon Memorials."

At last count, there were nine different magazines on my local bookshelf with titles like "John Lennon: A Tribute" and "John And The Beatles — a Memorial."

Most of these are nothing short of exploitive trash and should be treated as such, but as a bookseller told me "The people are eating it up." Sad, but true.

A situation similar to this arose following the death of Elvis Presley, but where his death was sinister (mostly because of his faithful fans' disbelief of drug use), Lennon's was too real, too violent, and unfortunately, too common. But still, in just a few days following the shooting, paperback books started appearing on shelves.

Lennon's own two books were reissued. Rolling Stone magazine's lengthy interview with the former Beatle was again released under its original title of

Some Lennon tributes rate as pure trash

"Lennon Remembers." No rip-off here, "Lennon Remembers" is as good a look inside John as we were ever allowed, and every fan should have this.

On the other hand, avoid at all costs — as if you had to be told — a book called "John Lennon: What Happened?" Reading as if it was written the night of Lennon's tragic demise, this "book" is an insult, both to John and to his fans. Some people I have talked to are boycotting stores which carry this book, and at least one store has withdrawn it from its shelves.

Another book to be avoided is "John Lennon: a Personal Pictorial Diary." Consisting mainly of old, oft-published photos, the so-called text included is handwritten, and begins, "To John, from someone who loves you." To my mind, someone who loved him wouldn't be taking advantage of his death in this cheap, exploitive way.

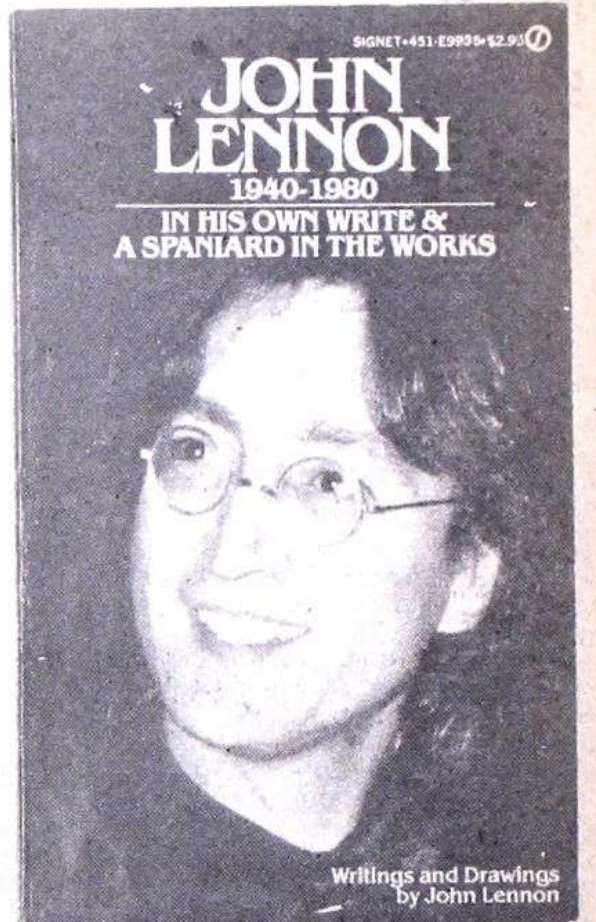

On the brighter side, Rolling Stone magazine put out a special Lennon issue, chocked full of intelligent, well written articles on the man and his influence. At first, some people were put off by the cover photo, which features John, lying naked on his side, hugging Yoko, his wife.

Sensationalism it's not, because as is explained inside, the photos were taken a few hours before his death, and it was Lennon himself that picked that pose. After seeing the prospective shot, he said "That's it! You've captured our relationship perfectly."

Photographer Annie Leibovitz agreed with Lennon, and they shook on it. Yoko made the final selection the next day.

My main point here, is that I hope you will use care in deciding on which, if any, of the "Memorials" now on the market. On the night of his death, as mourners were lined up outside of his New York apartment, a man was selling buttons proclaiming "John Lennon; 1940-1980," less than two hours after the shooting. Now that's integrity.

This paperback, "John Lennon — In His Own Write & A Spaniard in the Works," is a good buy at $2.95 considering that the original prose once sold for upwards of $20. It's published by Signet.

Bounty Hunter captures public

The musical arrangements for different numbers are ironed out jointly between the group members.

"We're a concert-situation band," said White, "complete with five expert musicians."

White, the most experienced musician in the group, offers his view of the Bounty Hunter talent:

•Frenchy Farless—"He's the vocals of our music. His voice can be hard or smooth and to the point. His voice is like no one else's—you know it's his. He's the big, little tough guy, the front man holding the rest of us together so we don't go too crazy. In concert he sweats like a rain cloud as the thunder rings around him."

•Mike Forsyth—"He's a lead guitarist with non-stop energy, who has to work out physically before he plays. But, when he plays the adrenaline starts to flow. It's like lightning as he works his fingers. You can see the music in his body as he rocks."

•Jim Mooradian—"Rhythm is his business and he's an animal of beat. He's hard driving and heavy—never just satisfied with playing the metronome for the others to follow as he sits in his cage of percussion."

•John Schiller—"On organ and synthesizer he can do anything he wants with what he has at hand. He can create the sound of anything from crickets to explosions as he weaves the keyboards through the music."

In regard to himself, White says he not only strives to play the "bottom" in a tune, but also to be part of the melody.

Bounty Hunter is scheduled to play in concert this Friday evening at the University of Michigan Dearborn campus and next Friday they will return for another engagement at the Punch and Judy Theatre on the east side. Both concerts will feature D.R.E.A.D. discounts.

Bounty Hunter members give this word of warning:

"We all work to be one part—a posse out for one objective—to capture the public. We duel each other with the sound of excitement and we got-ya!"

Fishing Lines

By BOB SAWITSKI

Fishermen will most likely want to make note of the following dates:

FEBRUARY 28 and MARCH 1, 1981—These are the dates of the Fenwick Fly Fishing School that will be held at the Eddie Bauer Outdoor Store, 21110 Greenfield Road, Oak Park 48237.

For the beginning angler, these intensive, six-hour clinics are designed to provide a complete overview of fly fishing. Topics will include finding fish in lakes and streams; food organisms of the trout; presenting the fly to the fish; hooking, playing and landing the fish; the how and why of equipment and artificial flies; knots; and basic fly casting.

For the experienced angler, this in-depth seminar will explore methods and information to upgrade skills which are necessary to achieving consistent angling success. Discussions will center on nymph fishing for trout; factors of selectivity and how they affect fly design and stream strategy; biology of the trout; techniques for refining your equipment; landing big fish on light tackle; and such advanced fly casting techniques as loop control, curve casts, mending in the air, and distance casting.

The seminars will be held from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., and 3 p.m. to 9 p.m. on February 28, and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on March 1. The fee for the complete seminar is $30, and a $10 deposit is required.

The Fenwick Fly Fishing Seminars are conducted by Gary A. Borger, biologist, outdoor writer, director of Fenwick Fly Fishing Schools, Midwest Division, and author of several books on the subject of fly fishing.

For more information on registering for the seminars, write to Borger at 309 S. 11th Ave., Wausau, Wisconsin 54401, or phone (715) 842-9879. Or, contact Chuck McDonald at the Eddie Bauer store in Oak Park. The telephone number is (313) 967-0155.

APRIL 25-26, 1981—The Bass Fishing Institute is coming to Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti.

The Bass Fishing Institute brings to the fisherman—novice as well as experienced—the latest information on bass fishing techniques and encourages the participation of both youth and women. These Institutes are being presented by the American Institute of Bass Fishing and Indiana State University.

The faculty consists of professional bass fishing instructors, including Basil Bacon, Charlie Campbell, Paul Chamberlain, Bill Dance, Dick Kotis, All Lindner, Tom Mann, Jerry McKinnis, Billy and Bobby Murray, Dave Myers, Jim Rogers, Shag Shahid, Kim Whitaker, Babe Winkelman, and Forrest Wood.

Daily hours of the Institute will be from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The program for each Institute is highly structured. General sessions, each lasting approximately one hour which all students attend, are scheduled throughout the day. General Session topics are: Conservation—Facts and Theories; Seasonal Patterns; Balanced Tackle—Casting Techniques; Lures; Structure and Pattern Fishing; Depth Finders—Sounders—Locators—Graphs; Rivers and Streams; and Reservoirs, Natural Lakes, Strip Pits and Farm Ponds.

Because of the regional nature of the Institutes, attention will be paid to other species of fish in the area.

Registration fees are $40 per adult. A spouse can enroll for an additional $20. One youth, ages 10-15, will be admitted free with one paid adult. Additional youths may enroll for $20 each.

Each full paying student will receive a comprehensive study manual detailing information presented during the Institute sessions. The content is a combination of theory and facts, complete with structure diagrams and reference charts, compiled by the professional faculty and staff. It will serve as a useful reference volume and working guide for improved fishing.

For an application and more information, contact Bass Fishing Institutes, Academic Services, Indiana State University, Terre Haute, Indiana 47809, or telephone (812) 232-6311, extension 5895.

Winter festivities coming to Wayne

If you like to plan ahead, then circle the weekend of Jan. 30-Feb. 1, when the City of Wayne will host its annual Winter Festival at the Wayne Community Center.

There will be a variety of activities offered, all centered around a winter theme, including cross-country ski instructions and races, a tug of war, broomball tournament, snowball hunt and Big Wheels on Ice, all of which require advance registration.

The ski program, sponsored by the Wayne Lions Club, will be for youngsters 8 through 13 years of age. The cost will be $2.50 per child, with the funds to benefit the club's Sight Conservation Program.

The program will be held on Saturday, Jan. 31, and will include lessons and a race for participants in three age groupings—8- and 9-year-olds, 10- and 11-year-olds and 12- and 13-year-olds.

For those who need it, equipment will be provided, but the number of skis available is limited, so youngsters should register as soon as possible.

Organizers of the festival also are hoping to attract teams from local PTA and faculty groups to participate in the Tug of War on Ice competition, also slated for 3:15 p.m. Jan. 31. Teams should be made up of 10 adults.

Teams can register by calling 721-7400.

Teams also are needed for the broomball tournament. A first for the festival, the competition will be limited to the first 8 teams to sign up. There is no registration fee for the event.

And children 4 through 8 years of age can try their Big Wheels on Ice in competition. Youngsters must provide their own Big Wheels—one per participant—and register in advance.

Children 13 and under can participate in a snowball hunt, slated for Feb. 1.

It's Romulus vs. Willow Run at the Silverdome

Romulus High and Coach Al Wilkerson will take their basketball show to the Pontiac Silverdome Thursday night when the Eagles clash with defending but twice-defeated Class B state champ, Willow Run.

Coach Wilkerson's Eagles will go into the 5:30 p.m. tilt with a 2-7 record, losing to Ann Arbor Pioneer 73-66 their last time out.

Discussing Willow Run's attributes, Wilkerson said that the key to the game will be stopping Willow Run's 6-7 senior forward Keith Jackson. Jackson was given all-state consideration a year ago.

"We're just going to have to stop Jackson if we want to stay on the floor with them," Wilkerson said, "and, another key is the boards. They're big and strong and we're going to have to get up there with them or we'll be in trouble."

"But, let me say this — we gave them a good game earlier in the season and I see this one shaping up as another dogfight," Wilkerson concluded.

Willow Run won a 71-62 victory over the Eagles last month.

The Willow Run-Romulus match-up precedes the Detroit Pistons and Chicago Bulls' game.

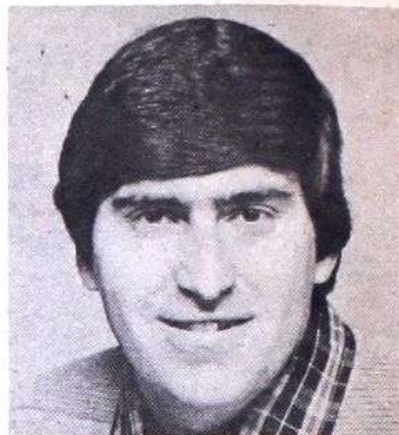

Romulus came within four points of catching Ann Arbor Pioneer in the last quarter but ran out of gas. Pioneer, ranked among the top 10 Class A powers in the state this year, jumped off to a 21-12 lead at the end of the first period and increased the margin to 39-22 at the half.

The winners outscored their rivals 22-

19 in the third period to take a 20-point (61-41) margin into the final eight minutes.

Troy Williams and Patrick Bell led an Eagle surge as Romulus outscored Pioneer 25-12 in the final minutes. Williams scored nine of his 12 points and Bell chipped in six of his 12 during the rally. Bobby Stewart and Triy Gray also had 12 points for the Eagles. William Neil led the team with 14.

Don Petties, a 6-4 Pioneer guard, collected 10 field goals and made 6 of 7 at the free throw line for a game high 26 points.

The Sports Meridian

A first in ANP area

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Being No. 1 in any sport is always a precarious occupation that many coaches wouldn't wish upon themselves or anyone, unless of course it's at the end of the season.

For it is a fact that everyone likes to beat the No. 1 ranked team.

And, would you believe that for the first time in many years two area high school wrestling teams have compiled enough points from coaches to earn the coveted No. 1 ratings.

In the minds of the Michigan High School Wrestling Coaches' Association, Belleville is the No. 1 Class A team in the state this year, while the same group singled out New Boston Huron as the No. 1 Class B team.

"I'm very proud that our team has been selected as the No. 1 team in the state," said Gerry Malecek, Belleville High's head coach coach, "however, I believe it's going to be very difficult to maintain that status all the way."

"One of the reasons why I feel this way is because only two from the regionals will qualify to compete for the state titles," added Malecek. "I feel as a dual meet team we are very well balanced, but when you get into the state tournament there are a lot of factors involved, and you really need 'blue chippers' to win the state championship."

Malecek, 30, who has been coaching at Belleville High since 1972, has never had the No. 1 team. But the Tigers have won three Suburban 8 Conference championships and one district title.

Belleville's only 'mar' this year in an 8-0-1 record is a 28-28 tie inflicted by Westland John Glenn and Malecek is quick to point out "that a coaching strategy backfired on him" during the meet.

"I wanted to get our kids fired up for the Trenton meet," Malecek said, "and I juggled our line-up but it didn't work out the way I thought it would."

This is Belleville's initial recognition as the top team in the state, however New Boston Huron has been there before. Fourth-year coach Tom Fritz knows the torment well.

"Yes, I'm pleased that my colleagues would think so highly of our team," Fritz commented, "but the road to the state title is filled with a lot of thorns. They know it. And we know it. But it is an honor anyway and we're going to enjoy it as long as it lasts. We hope it's right up to the end."

New Boston captured the Class B state crown back in 1978 and has held on to the conference title for the past seven years.

This year the Chiefs are boasting a 7-0-1 over-all record and have won the Schoolcraft Invitational title — the first time any "B" team has ever done so. They also have stashed away first place trophies for their over-all performances at Westland John Glenn and their own invitational. Add to that hardware are trophies for finishing second at the Belleville and Woodland (Grand Rapids) Invitationals.

You'll find the complete Class A and Class B listing at the end of the column.

And, since we're on the subject of wrestling, when the "old pro" Bob Lusk, Westland John Glenn's wrestling mentor, took his Rockets up to the Minert Invitational, he was pleasantly surprised to learn that the Flint Beecher delegation was coached by one of his former proteges, Mike Hill.

Hill, also a former All-Area grappler, apparently learned his lesson well at Glenn. His team nosed out the Westlanders 149-147 to win the championship.

Glenn also lost one of its most loyal wrestling fans, Ralph Putloski, who passed away on Christmas Day. Mr. Putloski succumbed to a fatal heart attack. He was an active Glenn athletic booster and chairman of many Rocket projects. Mr. Putloski's son Greg, also wrestled for Coach Lusk's team back in the mid-seventies.

And Ed Baum, ex-Romulus High athletic director and now an assistant principal in the Romulus Community School District, is reported in fair condition at Harper Hospital.

Baum is recuperating from a cancer operation. He's in room V-515.

Power struggle

Locked in a power struggle are Trenton's 138-pounder Tom Tarfelt (T jersey) who had his problems with Belleville's Norm Bates. Bates helped Coach Gerry Malecek's Tigers crush the then fourth-ranked Class A state power, 34-16, to pick up their third consecutive Suburban 8 Conference victory. Belleville also received some good news this week as coaches across the state voted Malecek's Tigers as the No. 1 team in Class A. It is the first time Belleville has been so honored. Photo by Perry Farr.

Glenn can't handle R.U. press, 66-49

Choking on a Redford Union full-court press, a flu-bitten, injury-riddled Westland John Glenn cage team missed a chance to catch the Northwest Suburban Conference pacesetter Friday night.

Coach Dan Henry's Rockets — minus two starters and with one other playing with the flu — lost to the host, Redford, 66-49, and fell two-games off the leader's pace.

Redford Union now has won all four of its conference games while Glenn dropped down to third place, a berth the Rockets share with Livonia Franklin. Both are 2-2 in the league. Thurston is in second (3-1), while North Farmington (1-3) and Garden City East (0-4) trail.

The Westlanders will take on the last place Panthers Friday night in the final game of the first round.

The Rockets stayed with R.U. for two complete periods. They trailed 11-9 at the end of the first period and 29-28 at the half-way mark. However, the league-leaders threw a full-court press at the Westlanders at the beginning of the third period and the Rockets couldn't handle it.

Consequently, R.U. managed to pick off some passes and turn them into easy layups. The winners outscored their rivals 21-10 in that pivotal period.

"We had a five point lead early in the third period," Henry noted, "but they (R.U.) exerted pressure on us via a full-court press, forcing turnovers that resulted in them getting the ball away from us."

"We also weren't at full strength," Henry continued, "One of our starters (Kevin Thweatt) didn't start, but later played. He is suffering from the flu, while two other starters didn't play because of various reasons."

Rob Sisson, who pumped in nine of his team high 11 points, paced the losers, Roco Rocinski scored 18 and Todd Hillis picked up 21 for the winners.

Salem captures North Farmington mat tourney title

Looking like the team that won almost every major tournament in the area a year ago, Plymouth Salem parlayed seven medals, including three gold, to capture the North Farmington Wrestling Invitational Championship over the weekend.

With Mary Piper (heavyweight), John Beaudoin (126) and Scott Wickens (198) striking gold for Coach Ron Krueger's Rocks, Salem piled up 121 team points to finish ahead of host, North Farmington (103½) to claim the team title.

Milford, with 101½ and Wayne

Memorial, with 99½, finished third and fourth respectively in a field of 10 competing teams.

Salem, the defending Suburban 8 Conference champ, also came close to winning a fourth gold medal when Bruce Backman who was runner-up in the 145-pound class. Backman lost to Wayne Memorial's Joe Samples via a pin in 3:19.

Salem also received third place medals thanks to Rob Price, (155), Steve Szilagyi (167), and Adam Golchuk (185).

Wayne, rebuilding under veteran coach Ron Haney, looked good. The Zebras also earned a pair of first places when Ron Pittman and Jim Daniels wound up with the 132 and 138 pound titles. Wayne also had the second best 105-pounder and 198-pounder in Paul Justice and Daryl Brooks.

Thurston, Glenn in title duel

Westland John Glenn, which has had a monopoly on the Northwest Suburban Conference wrestling title over the past decade, will run against title hopeful, Redford Thurston, in a key dual meet match-up on Thursday.

Thurston will host the 7:30 p.m. confrontation.

Coach Bob Lusk's Rockets will take a 11-11 won-lost-tied record into the meet after stopping Flushing 55-15 and Clawson, 44-18, in a double dual on Saturday.

Both Thurston and Glenn are 3-0 in the league.

Glenn surprised third-ranked Belleville last week by earning a 28-28 tie over the area power. The Westlanders had a 28-13 lead going into the final three weight classes but Belleville managed to come back and pick up the 15 points.

The Rockets destroyed Garden City East 71-3 and shut out Redford Union 67-0 in league competition earlier. The R.U. victory was the second consecutive victory on a shutout by the Westlanders who had earlier in the week buried Livonia Franklin.

Rogers keeps Wayne in cage title chase

While undefeated Lincoln Park and once-beaten Fordson shoot it out, Coach Steve Schwartz and Wayne Memorial's Zebras will try to stay in the Great Lakes 8 Conference title race at the expense of Wyandotte, Friday night.

Wayne kept its title hopes alive thanks to a last-second tip-in by Rick Rogers whose decisive basket gave the Zebras a 52-51 victory over defending conference basketball champ, Monroe.

"The two teams in front of us (Fordson and Lincoln Park) have to play each other Friday night," Schwartz said, "and a lot can happen. If Fordson wins, then each team in the league will have at least one loss."

Lincoln Park will carry a 5-0 record into the showdown with Fordson, which is 4-1 on the league year. Wayne is seated in third with a 3-2 mark, while both Wyandotte and Monroe are tied in fourth (2-3), followed by Taylor Truman (2-4) and Taylor Center (0-5).

Rogers, noted for coming through for the Zebras on the gridiron, emerged as the hero of the Monroe battle when he tapped in a shot with a second left in the game.

With 16 seconds remaining Monroe's Dave Johnson drove in and missed on a hurried up shot. But Johnson came up with the ball in the scramble and banked in the two-points, giving the Trojans a 51-50 lead.

Schwartz called "time out" with the purpose of setting up Rogers, he said. But when play resumed Rogers was immediately double teamed. The Wayne coach asked for another time out. When the action began there was only four seconds left. Gary Mazurek got the ball, went up to shoot but a lunging Trojan defender almost blocked the shot so Mazurek dropped the ball on the floor where Russell scooped it and made a desperation shot that hugged the rim until Rogers tapped it in.

Monroe held a 15-13 lead at the end of the first period, widened its advantage 33-28 at the intermission before Wayne outscored their rivals 10-8 in the third period and managed to pull away by five before Rogers' basket settled the issue.

Rogers had 17 points to pace all scorers and Russell chipped in 13 for the Zebras who made 8-of-11 free throws.

Earlier in the week Wayne dropped a 60-47 decision to league-leader Lincoln Park.

"The game was much closer than the final score indicates," Schwartz said. "We outscored them 22-14 in the third period, but then I feel we ran out of gas."

In the last eight minutes, L.P. had the edge 20-9 which pulled the Railsplitters out of trouble. It was an 8-8 ball game

Over 30 hockey is getting rough

Action is getting tough and rough as the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey League heads into the stretch of the 1981 regular season campaign.

There are seven games remaining on the schedule. The teams will then qualify for the playoffs.

Last week, officials meted out 46 penalties—an average of nine per game, but Little Bill's Trophies managed to overcome the infractions and outskate Jake's Lounge 4-2 to stay on top of the Berrington Division.

Jake's got on the scoreboard first on a goal scored by Al Farina with Mike Beals getting credit for the assist.

Little Bill's struck back with three goals, one each by Eugene Taurainen, Ron Hays and Terry Carley to grab the lead for good.

However, Jake's closed the gap when Jim O'Gozalay fired in his first goal of the evening, early in the third period to make it, 3-2. Jim Lear and Al Farina assisted. Late in the same period Hayes struck again, getting his second goal of the evening. That sealed the victory for Bill's.

Don Middaugh and Ken Carter picked up two assists each for Bills with Jerry Bucar and Ken Beal getting one assist each.

Benny's Pizzeria had little trouble skating past Futurama, securing a 5-1 win to remain two points behind the Berrington leader.

Rod Dittmar scored twice for the winners' while Tom Bryans', Paul Mayworm and Moe Paquette each scored once.

Chick Jennett assisted on two goals with Dave Zajac, Ray Schemanske, George Sharp, Don Morris, Chuck Heebsh and Jim Thomas each received assists.

Futurama got its lone goal late in the third period as Barry Anderson found the net with Jim Drewry picking up the assist.

In an evenly matched contest, Taste Freeze came out on top, handing Johnson Carbonic a 4-3 loss.

Joe Soukup netted the first puck for Taste Freeze early in the first period. Ron Johnson scored for Johnson Carbonic late in the same period, tying the score.

The Freezers' took the lead early in the second period as Guy Moise rattled the net with Paul Briski and Bill Ballou assisting. Dave Frankling made it 3-1 by getting an unassisted goal early in the third period.

Johnson's tied the game with Norm

Beasley and John Kunz each netting the puck with 48 seconds. Perry Toepler assisted on Beasley's goal while Beasley assisted Kunz with the tying goal.

A short two minutes after Johnson had tied the game, Jim McClure scored what turned out to be the winning goal.

Moise got his second point of the game by assisting the winning goal. The win kept the Freezers two points behind the Berrington leader and tied with Benny's Pizzeria.

Jerry Robertson scored his third goal of the night with 1:40 remaining in the game to give The Jock Shop a 4-4 tie with Brock Builders. The tie enabled The Jock Shop to take a one point lead over Johnson's in the Bonkowski Division.

Brock Builders took a 2-0 lead in the first period with Jay Middaugh scoring both goals. John Clearwood and Dallas Hayley assisted the first goal while Vern Springer picked up the assist on the second goal.

The Jock Shop came back in the second period with Jerry Robertson scoring two goals and Mike Villemure netting the puck once to take a 3-2 lead.

Belleville, Salem duel in key Sub 8 mat match

After dumping fourth-ranked state power Trenton, Belleville grapplers will focus their sights on Suburban 8 Conference champ, Plymouth Salem, Thursday in a dual meet which could well decide the next conference king.

Burying Trenton 34-16, Coach Jerry Malecek's wrestlers have an untainted 3-0 league record. But, the Tigers saw their perfect 8-0 mark marred when Westland John Glenn managed to tie them last Tuesday at 28-all.

"We have to respect Salem," Malecek said. "They have a fine program and are traditionally a tough contender when it comes to wrestling."

"Our meet with them (Salem) will be an excellent one," Malecek added.

The Westlanders amassed a 28-13 lead over Belleville and it looked as if they were going to hand the No. 3 state power its first loss. The heavy weights then went to work.

Mel Richendollar claimed a superior decision over Glenn's Gary Grabowski in the 185-pound bout, then Chris Larcinese pinned Paul Curnutte, Glenn's 198 pounder, while Tiger heavyweight Steve Cook came away with the necessary four points to finalize the score.

Up to then, Glenn had been in control thanks to Tom Gibson (98), Don Reynolds (105), Mike Parson (112) and Jeff Clark (119) who provided the defending Northwest Suburban champs four quick victories in the initial four bouts.

In the next six matches, the two out-of-league rivals split with Belleville winning with Fred Vera (126), Norm Bates (138) and Ken Kinsey (156), while Glenn carded victories with Dean Garza (132), Greg O'Neil (145) and Ted Badami (157).

Flu bug hits Wayne swimmers

Zebras still keep win streak intact

With flu taking a huge toll from both lineups, undefeated Wayne Memorial coasted past Farmington 125-27 for its fifth consecutive dual meet victory of the season.

Coach Jim McPartlin's Zebras swept up nine of 11 events, receiving a record-breaking performance out of Scott Martin who the 100-yard butterfly in 57.9. He bettered his previous school mark of 58.3.

Wayne soph, Eric Head, won two events, picking up the 100-yard breaststroke in an impressive 1:06.3. He also placed first in the 50-yard freestyle (22.8).

"This meet would have been close if flu had not struck the Farmington team," Coach McPartlin said. "They had almost half of their line-up out, while we had five swimmers sick."

Wayne will take the week off and resume competition on Feb. 3 when the Zebras open their defense of the Great Lakes 8 Conference title against Dearborn Fordson at Fordson.

after the first period, then L.P. gained a 26-16 halftime lead. Wayne got nine points from Rogers in the third period which lifted the Zebras to within one basket (40-38) of tying the game. Rogers, the only Wayne players to finish in double figures, had 16 points. He shared individual scoring honors with Lincoln Park's 6-1 guard, John Skinner.

Wayne's Bill Hargrove and Russell came up with excellent performances on the boards. Although they had to fight off L.P.'s 6-9 1/2 center Vince Ford, who had 11 points for the night, Hargrove and Russell managed to give the Zebras a 37-35 edge in rebounding. Both had nine rebounds each.

THE FACTS about Check 'n Earn

THE CHECKING ACCOUNT THAT PAYS YOU INTEREST

Now, Wyandotte Savings Bank offers you a new idea in money management. It's called Check 'n Earn—a checking account that combines the convenience of a traditional checking account with the earning power of a savings account.

Q. How does Check 'n Earn work?

A. Just like any other checking account, except Check 'n Earn also pays you interest on your checking funds—money that never earned interest before.

Q. How is the interest computed?

A. WSB pays you 5.25% annual interest, compounded continuously and paid monthly, for an effective annual yield of 5.47% on your Check 'n Earn funds. No bank or any other financial institution will pay you more on this kind of account.

Q. Are there any service charges?

A. As long as you keep an average monthly balance of $1,500 in your Check 'n Earn account, it is free. Here is the fee structure:

If your average monthly balance is:	Your monthly service charge is:
$1,500 and above	FREE
$1,000 to $1,499	$3.00
$500 to $999	$4.00
$0 to $499	$5.00

Regardless of your Check 'n Earn balance, you'll never stop earning interest or have to pay deposit fees or check processing fees.

Q. What other advantages does Check 'n Earn have?

A. Check 'n Earn gives you back your cancelled checks each month along with an itemized statement showing your interest earned. Your Check 'n Earn account is also protected by 109 years of WSB experience and is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to $100,000.

Q. How soon can I get Check 'n Earn?

A. Right now at any WSB office.

For more information on Check 'n Earn interest-paying checking accounts, please call or stop by your nearest WSB office. Another money saving idea from the bank that gives you MasterCard and Visa with no annual fee.

Grassam Chiropractic Life Center

Dr. Grassam Says:

ACTIVE CHILDREN DESERVE CHIROPRACTIC PROTECTION

Children = Constant Change

The outstanding characteristic of young children is their constant change. Busy and eager, they are growing and developing continuously. Active bodies, hearty appetites, clear skins and bright eyes indicate a normal maturing process. They have so much to do, so much to learn about the world in which they live.

The world of the sick child, however, is restricted by his illness. Healthy activity wanes; eyes become dull; appetites decline.

How disease can start

Because a child is especially active, his body absorbs much stress each day. He may fall or be pushed or jolted. These forceful activities can produce spinal misalignments, which are called subluxations.

Disease and the spinal column

The spinal column is an important, and often overlooked, part of a child's growth and development. The spine is extremely vulnerable to abnormal development until the end of the rapid growth period (15 to 19 years), and is not completely developed until the young adult is approximately 25 years old.

The importance of correcting abnormalities early in childhood cannot be overemphasized. Too little attention is paid to traumatic incidences which could fixate and/or decrease normal movement of segments in the spine.

How your Chiropractor can help

Your doctor of chiropractic is trained to detect interference to the nervous system caused by misalignment or subluxation of the spine. He can determine whether your child has a subluxation and can correct it with spinal adjustments.

Chronic disease in adults often originates as a minor complaint in childhood. Many of these conditions can be prevented by your chiropractor.

Children make good chiropractic patients

Doctors of chiropractic find children especially good patients. They respond quickly to spinal adjustments and are delighted to learn adjustments are not uncomfortable. Parents are happy, too, when they see their child rapidly responding to treatment.

Proper diet, sufficient sleep, good posture and constructive exercise are important factors in proper growth and development. Our children's future depends on good health; protect it, accompany your children to your chiropractor regularly.

A Patient's Story:

I Had Pneumonia 13 times

I am asthmatic, and used to need six injections a week. I had to use the inhaler every day. If I played too hard, I'd have an asthma attack.

I had pneumonia 13 times, and several times a year my folks had to rush me to emergency.

Fortunately, my mom got a job working for Dr. Grassam, and she began bringing me in for adjustments. Now I hardly ever have an asthma attack, and I don't need any medication. I can play and do anything I want.

I only wish we hadn't waited so long!

Children May have a Spinal Defect Without Knowing it!

A spinal injury or defect which may occur may not have dramatic effects. It may occur subtly and grow worse with time. Children do not usually recognize subtle health problems, rather they learn to adapt and suffer in silence. As a result, many spinal defects are unknown both to parent and child. And to make the spinal defect even more mysterious, when the problem grows more serious and pain is felt, it often occurs in a part of the body not ordinarily associated with the spine.

It's
out of this world:
Westland's
Sidewalk Sale.

JANUARY 22-25

The bargains move into the mall this weekend! It's Westland's Sidewalk Sale, and the savings will put you on cloud nine. You'll find warm winter fashions for everyone in the family. Things for your home. Gifts. Sporting goods. Something from virtually every store—drastically marked down.

And there's more: Thursday and Friday at 4 & 7 p.m. see Glenn Haywood's show in the Central Court. It's a wonderful blend of comedy, magic and ventriloquism.

fun. Watch Russ Vogel's MIPPS Puppet Show. Sat. at 11 a.m., 2, 4 & 7 p.m. Sun. 1 & 3 p.m. In the Central Court.

Don't miss the fun, or the Sidewalk Sale.
It's out of this world!
